THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION

VOL. XLII.—No. 205 ATLANTA, GA., THURSDAY MORNING, JANUARY 6, 1910—FOURTEEN PAGES. PRICE FIVE CENTS.

CLIQUE KNOCKS PRICE OF COTTON $4.30 PER BALE

Sensational Break in Southern Staple in New York and New Orleans.

WALL STREET IS BENT ON DEPRESSING PRICE

All Advices From the South Were Bullish, but These Advices Failed to Check the Raid of the Gamblers---Southern Bulls Bought Heavily, Trying to Check Raid.

New York, January 5.—There was a sensational break in the cotton market late today, with May deliveries selling off to 15.60, or 57 points lower than last night, 64 points below the best level of the day, and 86 points, or $4.30 per bale, below the high level of the season.

The weakness in the stock market probably contributed to the Wall street selling, but selling orders came from all directions, and it looked as though there was a regular panic among longs following the record-breaking advances of late last year.

It was rumored that the cotton interest was unloading and it was also reported that a strong Wall street clique had been formed to depress prices, owing to the failure of trade demand to improve as rapidly as expected with the turn of the year.

Today's advices from the south generally were bullish as to the spot situation, but there were rumors of increased offerings, which probably aided in precipitating the tremendous liquidation late in the day. The market has been more or less unsettled all the week, but the sensational break of today came very suddenly, with the market declining over $3 per bale in less than an hour's time. The market closed weak at a net decline of 25@28 points, with May selling at 15.60, or at the lowest. It is estimated that the big southern bulls had bought fully 150,000 bales in an ineffectual effort to check the decline.

Great Break at New Orleans.

New Orleans, January 5.—One of the most sensational declines ever seen on the local cotton exchange took place this afternoon, when within less than a hour's trading there was a break of 76 to 84 points, or about $4 a bale, in active deliveries.

The decline came without any warning. Around the middle of the session prices seemed inclined upward, and actually made an advance of 6 to 10 points over yesterday's closing. From this level there was a perpendicular drop, amid the wildest excitement and extremely heavy trading, in which holders of long cotton were closed out by the score.

EXCHANGE STYLED NEST OF ROBBERS

And Hughes Scored as Friend of Wall Street.

Senator Grady Makes Sensational Attack on Governor of New York for Pursuing Race Track Gamblers and Saying Nothing About Wall Street.

Albany, N. Y., January 5.—Senator Grady made a sensational attack on Governor Hughes in the senate today, following the reading of the governor's message. It was the governor's proposal to penalize the practice of bookmaking that aroused the ire of the senate minority leader to the point of attack. He declared that while the governor attacked the horse owner, the bookmaker and the man placing his bet on a horse race, "he had never dared to attack the most monstrous gambling institution there is in the world, the New York stock exchange, and to the end of his career he will never have the courage to attack it.

"Let me call your attention to the kid-gloved way in which the governor handles Wall street," continued Senator Grady. "When he comes to speak of bookmaking, it is gambling, public gambling, and the distinction of gambling outside the track and inside the track have been obliterated; but when it comes to talk of Wall street gambling, the only gambling with which he is personally acquainted, upon which he is an expert authority, then it becomes speculation, and he wishes to appoint a commission to inquire whether the most nefarious system of gambling which exists today, in the state of New York, Wall street gambling, can be reformed with advantage to the public.

"Now, we did not abolish the distinction between the mean and miserable gambling in the brokers' office, and the reason we did not do it was because of the influence of the governor's clients, who are members of the stock exchange. He knows that the stock exchange is the biggest gambling institution in the world, driving men to suicide, robbing widows and orphans, playing with a stacked hand, playing with marked cards, and he does not dare to lift a finger against it; but with the air of a whited fallacy he would stand as the apostle of the public contempt for the gambling of the race track."

Senator Allds, in reply to Grady's attack, said he did not believe that any clientele that the governor has ever had would influence his advice to the senate or would govern him in the omission of anything which he would see fit to put in his message.

Life Term for Kidnaping.

Frankfort, Ky., January 5.—A bill was introduced in the state senate today making kidnaping punishable by life imprisonment in the penitentiary. The bill was prompted by the mysterious disappearance of Alma Kellner in Louisville.

Arbitration for Switchmen.

Chicago, January 5.—Members of the Switchmen's Union, representing the western railroads, today agreed with the General Managers' Association to submit their requests for advanced wages and change in hours to arbitration under the Erdman law. The switchmen asked for arbitration.

IN DEEP WRATH ENGLAND RISES AGAINST LORDS

So Bitter Is Feeling That No Conservative Peer Can Secure Hearing on Stump.

HOUSE OF LORDS FORCED TO ADVOCATE ITS REFORM

Even Lord Lansdowne, Who Moved Rejection of Budget, Is So Alarmed by the Feeling Against the Peers That He Admits Upper House Should Be Reformed.

London, January 5.—Two phases of the election struggle now claim attention—first, the disorderly interruptions to which many conservative meetings and almost all of those addressed by peers are subjected, so that it is practically impossible for any unionist peer to secure a fair hearing, and, second, the realization by the peers themselves and the unionist press of the necessity of the house of lords advocating its own reform, as the only means of meeting the storm of protest that the peers' action in connection with the budget arouses in the country.

Landsdowne Would Reform Peers.

The reform of the house of lords has been openly advocated by The Times and other conservative papers, and was tonight the most interesting point of the speech of Lord Lahdsdowne at Liverpool.

The opposition leader in the lords admitted that the present house was too unwieldy for an effective second chamber.

He believed in the preponderating power of the house of commons, and suggested a house of lords within the upper house, and that this reform ought to be the work, not of one, but of both political parties, working together.

He objected to the elective principles on the ground that an elective chamber would claim what even the present house of lords did not claim, namely, coordinate power with the popular house. He presented the plan of the Rosebery committee of two years ago, of which he was a member, and which recommended that the inner house be composed partly of peers whose antecedents and qualifications justified their inclusion, partly of peers elected by the peers themselves and partly of life peers appointed by the crown on the recommendation of the government of the day.

In conclusion, Lord Lansdowne advocated tariff reform.

All the Great Leaders Speaking.

All the great leaders were again speaking in various parts of the country tonight. Austin Chamberlain challenged Premier Asquith to produce proofs of his assertion that unemployment was felt as much in protected countries as in Great Britain.

The campaign seemed to have a great attraction for the literary class. Alfred Austin, the poet laureate, joined the fray tonight, by issuing a letter to his countrymen, in which, claiming scrupulous absence of party spirit, he points out that the present house of lords includes two hundred members who served the country in the army and navy and a hundred of them on the battlefield, to say nothing of those who had perished in the shock of war. One hundred and seventy had been members of the house of commons, and he declared that it is impossible to call such a body unrepresentative. Therefore he earnestly appeals to the voters to stand by the constitution.

ANGRY REBELS READY TO FIGHT PRESIDENT TAFT

Insurgents Will Not Tamely Submit to Discipline From the White House.

AMAZEMENT CREATED IN RANKS OF REBELS

They Consider Latest Move by Cannon and Aldrich Exhibition of Monumental Nerve. Are Not Fighting Taft, but Aldrich and Cannon --- Can't Be Swayed in Such Manner.

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, January 5.—Special.)—The effort of the Aldrich-Cannon supporters to class all insurgents together as "agin the government," and to have President Taft discipline them by withholding patronage, has created amazement in the ranks of the insurgents, who consider themselves the only Simon-pure, honor-bright supporters of the president's legislative program.

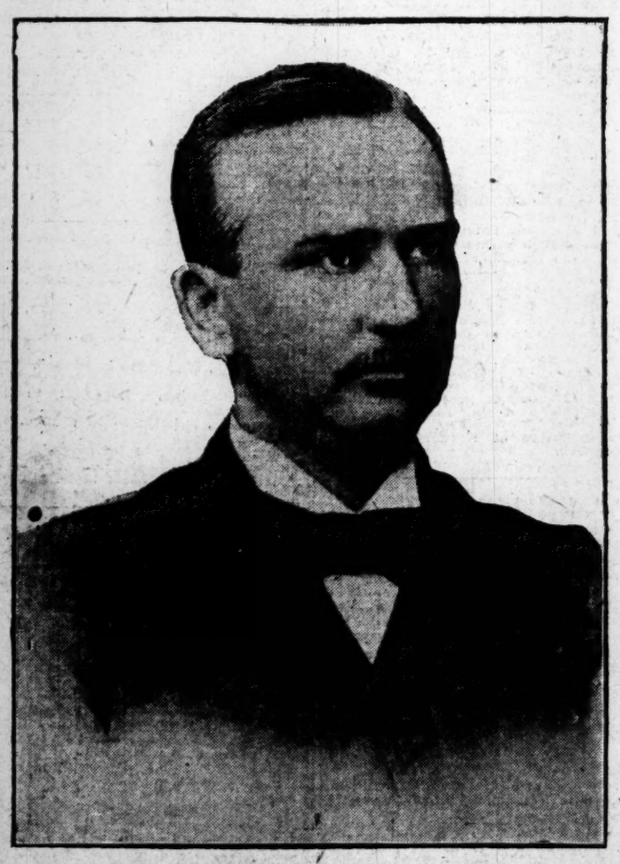

There was little else talked about among them today. The statement brought back by Representative Miller, of Minnesota, after his interview with the postmaster general, that nominations of the insurgents were being disregarded by the postoffice department, spread consternation. Many of the insurgents expressed grave doubt that the president would lend himself to such an attempt. They say they are only insurging against Cannon and Aldrich. They believe the plan is that of the postmaster general, and that the president has not acceded to it. Still nominations haven't been sent in of men recommended for federal positions by the insurgent members.

Views of Hitchcock.

While the postmaster general would make no statement for publication, those who saw him said the plan of withholding patronage was not as a punishment for past offenses, but a measure to insure regularity in future. Still, he holds the belief that congressmen make nominations as a privilege, and not as a matter of right. It was but natural, he thought, that those who oppose the administration's policies should not expect the considerations its friends were entitled to. There were some members of the congress who seemed to feel it was their right to dispense the patronage in their states and districts. He didn't agree with them. He felt they enjoyed a privilege in being consulted in the matter of presidential appointments, not a right; and that if they were disposed to antagonize the administration's legislative program and policies, they had not just reason to complain if denied the prestige that would come to them in being able to select postmasters and other presidential appointments in their states or districts.

In other words, the flesh pots of Egypt should go to the friends of Pharaoh. Insurgents considered it monstrous that they should be thus punished for exercising independence

CONGRESSMAN GRIGGS SUMMONED BY DEATH

CONGRESSMAN JAMES M. GRIGGS, Who Died at Dawson Yesterday.

Dawson, Ga., January 5.—(Special.) This afternoon, at 4:30 o'clock, Congressman James M. Griggs died suddenly in bed, while apparently convalescing from a supposed slight attack of heart trouble.

Judge Griggs left Washington Friday, December 17, to come home for the Christmas holidays, and after his arrival here, went on with his family, to the home of his father-in-law, ex-State Senator D. R. Stewart, in Randolph county, who had been in very poor health.

Yesterday morning Judge Griggs and his wife returned to Dawson, and the congressman went to bed immediately, complaining of feeling very unwell. Doctors were called in, and he was supposed to be on the road to recovery when the end came sudden-

CIRCUS MAN IS BURIED.

G. M. Brown Committed Suicide Five Weeks Ago.

Columbus, Ga., January 5.—(Special.)—After having lain for five weeks in a local undertaking shop while vain efforts were being made to get in communication with his relatives in the north, the body of G. M. Brown, a circus advance man, who committed suicide here, was buried here today. At the time of death, it is said that he was a member of a prominent family in one of the central western states. The body was embalmed, and is in an excellent state of preservation.

Near Beer in East Macon.

Macon, Ga., January 5.—(Special.)—The fight against the sale of near beer in East Macon was lost before the city council last night, when, by a vote of 9 to 3, the applications for licenses were granted. Aldermen Brunner, Anderson and Riley were the three aldermen opposing the sale. The claim was made that it was better to license the business than to force the operators on the outside where illegal sales might be made beyond the reach of the police.

Bartenders Made Gift.

Macon, Ga., January 5.—(Special.)—When the bartenders disbanded with the coming of prohibition they had a fund in their treasury reaching nearly $500. It was entrusted with the Exchange bank, and 80 per cent has been paid back. As the dividend checks have come in, they have been forwarded, through City Clerk Bridges Smith, to Hephzibah orphanage, and the entire amount will be made a gift to the institution.

New York, January 4.—William Watson, the English poet, who has been declared by his brother to be insane, arrived in New York from Havana with his wife.

NEGROES FOUGHT ASCENSUS TAKERS

Bartlett and Hardwick Protest to President.

They Say Negro Enumerators Will Make the Census a Failure So Far as the South Is Concerned---Negro Enumerators Will Be Treated as Joke.

By John Corrigan.

Washington, January 5.—(Special.) "They are trying to carry water on both shoulders in these appointments of negro enumerators in the south and are going to meet with a mishap," said Representative Bartlett, of Georgia, after a visit to the white house today. "It means the next census will be a failure so far as the south is concerned."

Representatives Bartlett and Hardwick called on the president today following the publication of the letter from Director Durand relative to the naming of negro enumerators in the south in districts where negroes number two-fifths of the population.

"We were assured by the president," said Mr. Bartlett, "that it is entirely foreign to his intention that any negro shall enumerate any white family. This assurance was also given by Director of the Census Durand. The administration thinks that negroes can secure statistics from those of their own race better than could white enumerators. Every white man in the south knows this is a great mistake. White enumerators would, of course, get from negroes statistics that were reliable. Negroes would treat a white enumertor with respect, while they would look on one of their own race as a joke.

"The plan now proposed will require both black and white enumerators in every enumeration district where members of both races live. It will just double the work. Moreover, it will be hard to secure white men for census jobs, say in the case of white storekeepers or other white families living in a negro community. The pay for enumeration is only 2 cents a head, and it would not pay a man to hunt up these isolated families. It is a bad system, and is sure to cause trouble. It will result in inaccurate and badly involved reports and make the whole thing, with its outlay of $10,000,000, worse than useless."

Governors Exchange Greetings.

El Paso, Texas, January 5.—Governor Jesus Del Valle, of Coahuila, Mexico, and Governor Campbell, of Texas, attended by their staffs, met today at Spoffer, Texas, near the international border, exchanged greetings, and together went to Del Rio, Texas, on a special train. At Del Rio three days' festivities have been arranged in their honor. The meeting is for the purpose of cementing the friendly relations of the two adjoining border states.

CHRISTIAN SCIENTISTS TO ERECT NEW CHURCH ON PEACHTREE CIRCLE

At a cost of between $50,000 and $75,000, the members of the First Church of Christ, Scientists, are to erect one of the handsomest churches in the south at the Junction of Peachtree and Peachtree Circle, in the immediate future.

On yesterday J. T. Holleman, representing this church, bought from Ernest Woodruff this beautiful lot at a cost of $16,000. This lot Mr. Woodruff acquired last January, paying for it $9,500. The lot in question, which adjoins the beautiful home of J. S. B. Thompson, is fanlike in its cut, having a frontage of 100 feet on Peachtree and 180 feet on Peachtree Circle on the curve and ruunning back on one side 140 feet and 120 feet on the other.

This lot, in the heart of Atlanta's residential section, is one of the most desirable to be found on the north side.

Its location affords ample room for a church 100 feet square and leaving ample space all around for lawns and other improvements.

As yet no architect has been secured to draw the plan for this house of worship, but now that the lot has been secured this will be done at once.

The style of architecture most pleasing, it is said, will be large and most imposing, with a surmounting cupalo, not as tall as the common run of steeples.

It is recalled this church has outgrown its home, which for years was located on West Baker street, and was recently bought by the club women of Atlanta, and services are now being conducted in Cable hall. There are 200 members of this church and quite a number who are interested and will probably join the church upon its completion. A wonderful organ is to be one of the attractive features of this new and most imposing church.

ACKERT LEAVES SOUTHERN ROAD

He Will Be Succeeded by E. H. Coapman.

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, January 5.—(Special.) C. H. Ackert, vice president and general manager of the Southern railway, has resigned from that system, and will be succeeded by E. H. Coapman, the present manager. The office of manager will then be abolished. These changes will be officially announced by President Finley tomorrow. The office pays about $20,000 a year. Mr. Ackert will go west. The report is that he will become connected with one of the Harriman lines.

Montgomery Fire Loss.

Montgomery, Ala., January 5.—(Special.)—The total fire loss in Montgomery in December was $16,103,93. One fire had a damage list of $10,518, and a second of $3,455. Total insurance paid $4,887.

MAY ANNUL SALE GRAMLING HOME

Mrs. Hardin to File Petition Through Attorneys.

Attorneys for Mrs. Kate Hardin, the daughter of Mrs. Anne Gramling, owner of the Gramling homestead, which was sold at the special sheriff's sale in front of the court house Tuesday morning, will enter a petition in court today to have this sale annulled.

The legality of the sale is to be attacked on the grounds that Mrs. Hardin bid $50,000 on the property, but that her bid was not noticed by the auctioneer, the sale being made to George Adair for $48,000.

The filing of this petition will probably bring up an interesting legal case.

The property in question fronts on West Peachtree street 110 feet, and runs back 132 feet on West Baker street. This property is centrally located and considered very valuable.

A two-story residence and some outer buildings are at present on the lot.

COST OF LIVING SO HIGH ARMY IS IN A BAD PLIGHT

Washington, January 5.—Three highly important developments today marked the inquiries started with a view to ascertain the responsibility for the increased cost of living.

Senator Elkins, of West Virginia, and Senator Crawford, of South Dakota, introduced resolutions providing for a congressional investigation, the war department announced to congress that there was a deficiency of $1,595,635 for the subsistence of the army during the present year, mainly because of the enhanced cost of food, and Secretary Wilson declared he would cease the investigation begun by him if congress interfered.

Senator Elkins' resolution calls for an "exhaustive investigation" into the matter by a committee of five senators, while Senator Crawford calls upon the secretary of commerce and labor for figures showing the increases in wholesale and retail prices during the last decade and the causes for such increases.

The army's plight was set forth in an appeal to congress to provide more funds to feed and clothe and maintain the force, which is greater than was estimated for in the appropriation bill. The petition was accompanied by a list prepared by the commissary general, showing increases in many staples in 1909 over the costs of 1908.

All this activity has resulted in winning recruits to the proposed National Anti-Trust League, which expects to compel reductions in the price of staples, when they rise above certain levels, through the employment of a concerted and legal boycott of such staples. The promoters here are receiving a flood of letters from all over the United States, pledging support.

Taft Withholding Patronage.

While no formal statement was forthcoming at the white house today, there was no attempt in administration circles to deny that President Taft is withholding certain customary congressional patronage from those "insurgent" senators and representatives who, the adherents of the president say, show no disposition to support administration measures.

Mr. Taft is reported as taking the attitude that if an obligation rests upon him to give certain patronage to a representative of his party, there is a reciprocal obligation upon the representative to support the president.

A number of so-called "insurgents" were out in interviews today saying that they heartily agreed with the president's legislative program, and asserting that instead of using the "whip" on them, the president should use it on those leaders who in the past had opposed the Roosevelt policies which Mr. Taft is seeking to enact into law.

On the part of the president it was said today that the withholding of patronage does not apply to all of the insurgents, and has absolutely nothing to do with their fight against Speaker Cannon or the house rules.

Attitude of President.

Victor Rosewater, republican national committeeman from Nebraska, one of the insurgent states, saw President Taft this afternoon and in an authorized interview said:

"The president said to me that he wanted me to help correct the reports that are being circulated to the effect that he is using the patronage club to whip so-called "insurgents" into line. The president says there is a well-founded custom that has become almost a rule, that in making certain appointments, such as postmasters, the president should act on recommendation of the members of congress in whose districts the appointments lie, if supported by a member of the same political party. This obligation, resting on the president, however, is reciprocal, he feels.

"The republican congressman, he declares, is under a similar obligation to support administration measures recommended by the president to carry out platform pledges on which both were elected. The president says he has not turned down recommendations of insurgent congressmen, but is simply preserving the statu quo to impress them of their obligation."

Some Insurgents "Cease" "Insurging."

Many of the insurgents have frankly told the president that they would support him in his legislative program, which already has been pretty definitely outlined. They declare themselves to be republicans first and last, and they say they will support measures framed to carry out the party platforms.

There are still a few of the insurgents, however, who seem disposed to carry on an absolutely independent attitude, and who are generally against everything that the leaders of the party are for. To make their potion stronger, they are said to be willing to ally themselves with the democrats. It is against these so-called recalcitrants that the non-patronage order has been issued, and so far as President Taft is concerned, it will stand until the members see fit to subscribe to the principles of the party's legislative program.

Statement by Insurgents.

Representative Madison, of Kansas, uttered views which were indorsed more or less heartily by several insurgents, among them Norris of Nebraska, Hayes of California and Miller of Minnesota. He declared that Aldrich and Cannon, not the insurgents, were the men who would have to be coerced, or cajoled, or bullied into supporting the Taft program.

He said:

"We insurgents, as we are called, are not against Taft or his policies. We are unanimously, I believe, in favor of every leading reform to which the president and the republican party is committed. For instance, I am in favor of postal savings, conservation of natural resources, regulation of injunction, reform of federal court of procedure, government regulation and control of industrial and carrying corporations, the publication of campaign funds and other reforms. Most of the other insurgents are for these same things.

"It is all slanderous to say that we can be swerved from the course of supporting these reforms by the withholding of any official patronage by anybody, or be induced to support this or that proposition by the offering of official sop of any kind. We are committed to the principles which I have enumerated because we believe they are right and not because the president or anybody else is for or against them.

"It is not the insurgents of the house, but men like Aldrich and Cannon, whom the president will have to induce to support his 'policies.' The insurgents are for them already and have been all the time."

Fighting for Independence.

Representative Norris, of Nebraska, and Representative Hayes, of California, said they approved Mr. Madison's statement.

Mr. Hayes said it was the independence of the representative in congress for which he was contending.

The insurgents are discussing the desirability of holding an early meeting and ascertaining from President Taft where they stand.

There was no apparent sign of the insurgent difficulty on the senate side of the capitol, except numerous conferences between insurgent republicans from the house and the senators from their states regarding the policy they are to pursue in the future.

Senator Cummins said he had experienced no difficulty with the postoffice department or any other government department regarding his patronage.

Representative Hayes, who had charge of the proposed meeting, stated later in the day that no meeting would be called by him before next week.

Suicidal for Taft.

"I think the boys had better have a chance to cool off," he said. "Some of them are pretty warm, you know."

Mr. Hayes said that when he read the published accounts today of what purported to be the administration's attitude toward the insurgents, he considered the proposition so suicidal from the standpoint of the administration that it was incredible. He denied statements that he had said he "could see President Taft's finish if he persisted in upholding Cannon."

In the senate the following progressives are supporting the president: Bristow, Brown, Borah, Burkett, Beveridge and Nelson. Those not in harmony with Mr. Taft's views are Clapp, of Minnesota; La Follette, of Wisconsin, and Cummins, of Iowa. The latter has called at the White House several times recently. He denies that any suggestion from him has been turned down. The house insurgents think the latest move the most monumental exhibition of nerve on part of the Cannon supporters recently advanced to harass and subdue them.

M'MILLAN PRODUCE CO.'S SAFE CRACKED TUESDAY

Cracksman Got $118 in Cash. Two Other Robberies --- It Looks Like Professional.

When the officials of the McMillan Produce Company 67 South Broad street, opened their place of business yesterday morning, it was discovered that the safe had been looted some time during the night before of $118 in cash.

The cracksman left a small bottle of nitro-glycerin near the safe door, but from all indications he had opened the safe by working the combination.

Examination of the store showed the burglar had laid a careful plan to rob the safe, for he had shielded himself from being seen on the outside by tacking an old sheet over the window.

The burglar entered the store by breaking a padlock and a Yale lock on the front door. After giving up the idea of using nitro-glycerin when he found that he could work the combination, the burglar used some heavy instrument in breaking open the inner doors. The money drawer was found broken open in the rear of the store. Three hundred dollars in checks were left.

On Tuesday night when the "job" was evidently done, the police were notified of two other burglaries and it would seem that the professional is in our midst again.

A burglar smashed a window of the Arnold Hat Company on North Pryor street, and twenty-five fine hats were found missing. A grocery store on Mangum street was also burglarized, but the loss was small.

The detectives are at work on the cases, but no arrests have thus far been made.

FORM MERGER OF CORPORATIONS

Will Develop City of Brunswick.

Companies Controlling Public Utilities Have Passed Into a New $10,000,000 Stock Company --- Georgia Coast Road Will Be Extended.

Brunswick, Ga., January 5.—(Special.)—Through a deal closed in New York Tuesday the Mutual Light and Water Company and the City and Suburban Railway Company, Brunswick's public service corporations controlling the light, water power and transportation franchises, have passed into the control of a new $10,000,000 stock company, the Brunswick Terminal and Railway Securities Company, which succeeds the $5,000,000 Brunswick Dock and City Improvement Company, which for years has owned nearly 2,000 lots in this city in addition to considerable acreage in the suburbs.

It is stated that the public service corporation will retain their separate organization with offices and management here. Around $2,000,000 of the new stock has been listed in New York and a good portion of this comes into the hands of the Brunswick developers who built the street railway and took over the water and light company.

As a result of the merger the proposed extension of the Georgia Coast and Piedmont from Darien to this city will be put through as soon as McIntosh and Glynn counties provide for the bridges across the Altamaha river.

Messrs. Strachan, Fendig and Dunwoody, who put the deal through, are expected home Friday. The big land company, which has for years been dormant, owning little or no improved property, will, it is claimed, bring about large developments.

Mae Wood to Be Tried.

New York, January 5.—Although Thomas C. Platt probably never will be in condition to testify, Mae C. Wood, who alleges that he married her, must stand trial for forgery and perjury charges, based on documents she produced and testimony she gave to support her alleged marriage. Counsel argued in her behalf today that the indictments should be quashed because of Platt's failure to appear, but Judge Foster refused.

The Annoyance Of Flatulence

Many People Are Annoyed With Gas in the Stomach and Intestines.

A Trial Package of Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges Sent Free.

Flatulence is due to the presence of gas in the stomach and intestines, which often rolls about, producing borborygmi, or rumbling noises in the intestinal system, and causes the victim of this trouble considerable embarrassment, when such noises occur while in company.

An analysis of gas from the stomach shows that it consists to a great extent of nitrogen and carbonic acid. It is therefore probable that some of the gas in the stomach consists simply of air which has been swallowed, although for the most part, the source of flatulence is the gas given off from the food in the abnormal processes of decomposition.

In cases of chronic gastric catarrh, the secretion of gastric juice in the stomach is deficient, the food is digested slowly, and fermentation occurs with the evolution of gas.

Swallowed air, however, plays a more important part in causing flatulence, or gas in the stomach and intestines, than is generally supposed, and while food may be swallowed without carrying air into the stomach with it, fluids, especially those of a tenaceous character, such as pea-soup, appear to carry down a great deal.

Flatulent distension of the intestines occurs when a large amount of gas or air, either swallowed or evolved from the decomposition of food, escapes from the stomach into the intestines through the pylorus. The enormous distension of the intestines and dilatation of the stomach with gases, and the rapidity with which such flatulence occurs, has long been a puzzle to medical men, and has led some to think that the only possible explanation thereof is a rapid evolution of gas from the blood.

In the treatment of gas in the stomach and intestines charcoal is considered by most physicians as the leading and most effective remedy. Carminatives, or medicines, such as peppermint, cardamom, sodium bicarb, etc., which expel the gas from the stomach in large volumes through the mouth, are resorted to by some people, but their use is disagreeable, and the frequent expulsion of gas through the mouth, most annoying, and after taking a remedy of this kind, one is compelled to remain out of company the rest of the day, on account of the continued belching of air.

STUART'S CHARCOAL LOZENGES do away with the necessity of undergoing the disagreeable experience of belching or expelling stomach gases through the mouth, by completely absorbing every particle of gas or swallowed air in the stomach, and also in the intestinal system, which prevents colic, and over-distension with accumulated air.

These wonderful lozenges should be used for all cases of flatulence and decomposition of food in the stomach, as well as for bad breath resulting from catarrh, decayed teeth, or stomach trouble.

EXPECT SHAKE UP IN POLICE FORCE

Lively Row Is On at Columbus.

Caused by the Reduction to Ranks of Detective Palmer. Members of Police Board Are at Outs.

Columbus, Ga., January 5.—(Special.))—A lively row is on in the Columbus police department over the reduction of Detective Jim Halmer to ranks and the report that a general shake-up is imminent.

The change comes immediately after the election of Dr. J. T. Moncrief as chairman of the board. Some of the members of the board are offended because the chairman did not consult them about the proposed change, one of them going to the extent of writing a card on the subject today. It is charged by Halmer's supporters that he made too good a detective in ferreting violations of the prohibition law.

The Columbus Ledger, owned by R. W. Page, who was, until January 1, chairman of the police board and who is now a member of the commission, published this afternoon interviews with various citizens protesting against the change and, also, the police indicated. The new chairman states that the change is for the good of the service.

Six members of one family were stricken Monday, three of another Tuesday and the remainder have come to light within the last twenty-four hours. Three of the victims are critically ill.

Canned beans are said to have been contributory in one case.

FARNUM PLEADS GUILTY.

Brewery Agent Is Given Fine of $5,000.

Columbia, S. C., January 5.—James S. Farnum, agent in this state for a number of brewery and liquor firms who did business with the late state dispensary, today pleaded guilty to a charge of conspiracy to defraud the state, and paid a fine of $5,000. The sudden ending of the case came without any previous intimation.

Attorney General Lyons appeared in the Richland county court of general sessions today and presented a new indictment against Farnum, charging him with conspiracy with Joseph B. Wylie, former member of the state dispensary board, to defraud the state. After examining Wylie as a witness the grand jury returned a true bill.

Farnum, accompanied by his attorneys, appeared in court and presented a plea of guilty, which was accepted by Judge Prince, who in imposing sentence gave him the choice of a fine of $5,000 or one year on the chain-gang.

The attorney general will, in view of Farnum's plea, nol prosse the other five cases against Farnum, two for bribery of state dispensary officials and three for conspiracy, all based on the same testimony. At the last term of court Farnum was acquitted of a charge of conspiracy based on practically the same set of facts.

NEW BUILDING JUST COMPLETED

G. M. A. Holds First Service In Its Y. M. C. A. Building.

Reopening of Georgia Military Academy Most Splendid in History of Institution --- Old Students Return, and There Is Large Number of New Ones.

Probably the most significant day in the history of any preparatory school in the United States and possibly in the world, was that at the Georgia Military Academy Tuesday morning, when the large and enthusiastic student body held the first chapel service of the year in the auditorium of the new Y. M. C. A. building, just completed. So far as is known, this is the only prep school in the world which has a Young Men's Christian Association building, although Culver Military Academy is now constructing one.

The reopening of the Georgia Military Academy is one of the most splendid in the history of the institution, and every train this week is bringing in the old students and a good increase of new. Colonel Woodward led the chapel service and welcomed the students back, while other members of the faculty spoke very enthusiastically of the new year's work. About 90 per cent of the students are members of the Y. M. C. A., and within the next few days the formal opening of the new building will be celebrated with appropriate exercises. No doubt other preparatory schools throughout the country will follow the example set by this noble band of boys, and the spirit of the Y. M. C. A. will fasten itself upon a much more fertile spot in the life of young men between the ages of 12 and 18. In this way the work of the association in the colleges and in the cities will be greatly augmented by having trained men from the preparatory schools.

Mrs. Alonzo Richardson, who takes such a wonderful interest in the young men of the G. M. A. and has about 50 per cent of them in her Sunday school class, designed the plan of the building, and it certainly reflects great credit upon her esthetic and practical judgment.

JUDGE J. J. KIMSEY WILL MAKE RACE

Offers for Reelection for Judge of Northeastern Circuit. Others Mentioned.

Gainesville, Ga., January 5.—(Special.)—Judge John J. Kimsey has announced his candidacy for reelection to the judgeship of the northeastern circuit. He will have served twelve years at the end of his present term and is to be strongly supported in his coming race.

It is generally thought that Colonel H. H. Perry, of Gainesville, will also make the race for the northeastern judgeship, but he has so far made no announcement of his intentions. Judge J. B. Jones, of Toccoa, is also a candidate for judge of the circuit, and this race promises to be interesting.

For solicitor general, Colonel W. B. Sloan, of Gainesville, and Colonel Robert McMillan, of Clarkesville, are already announced. Colonel J. G. Collins of Gainesville, is also spoken of as candidate. Colonel W. A. Charters, the present solicitor, is not a candidate for reelection. He has served twelve years and has made one of the best prosecuting officers in the state. He will likely not reenter politics for the present, but give his entire attention to the practice of his profession.

Rome Building Records.

Rome, Ga., January 5.—(Special.)—New buildings and improvements to the amount of $550,000 were constructed in Rome during the past year. During the past year 125 residences were constructed in Rome and approximately fifty business buildings. Scores of barns and outhouses were erected and improvement of property, it is estimated, amounted to $230,000. The total number of building permits issued was 225, and the amount increased $80,000 over 1908.

MAKING A CIGARETTE WITH ONE HAND NOT EASY

Did you ever try to roll a cigarette with one hand? If you have, then you know what a task it is. And you'll also believe that it took one person almost six months to perfect himself in this little piece of manufacturing.

He is Rapley Holmes, the big fellow who is playing "Slim" Hoover, the sheriff, in "The Round-Up," which is playing at the Grand this week. Holmes doesn't smoke cigarettes, but, as the cigarette incident has grown to be quite a little feature of "The Round-Up," it was up to him to learn how to twist the pills in order to succeed Maclyn Arbuckle in the hearts of the gallery gods.

Holmes says he spent hours at a time trying to master the papers and "makings." And even now, he says, he isn't always sure he won't have to call on the "other" hand for a little assistance.

"Everybody who has ever seen or intends to see 'The Round-Up,'" said Holmes, "knows something about 'Slim' Hoover making a cigarette. Now, they expect it and wait for it. And it makes a world of difference to the audience whether I twist it neatly or have a little trouble.

"The people seem to forget all about the other qualifications of the role. I believe I could make a lot of blunders in my lines, but so long as I twisted a cigarette with one hand with perfection it would satisfy the audience."

Holmes is a friend of Sheriff Foley, of New York county, and when the latter learned that he had been assigned to play the sheriff in "The Round-Up" swore him in as a real deputy sheriff. He now wears the badge and also carries the commission, swearing him in in his scrapbook.

RAPLEY HOLMES,
As "Slim" Hooper, the Sheriff in "The "Round-Up."

"The Round-Up."

Large audiences were on hand yesterday afternoon and last night at the Grand to see Klaw & Erlanger's big production of the western drama, "The Round-Up." This splendid production, which has to its credit an entire year in New York city and other big runs in Boston and Chicago, may not appeal to the readers of Ibsen and the admirers of Shakespeare, and there are some blase theatergoers who may turn up their aristocratic noses at the big-hearted "Slim" Hoover and the famous battle scene of the third act, but it is safe to say that the big audiences that have witnessed the performances so far this week at the Grand have been thoroughly delighted with the play, and have freely expressed their pleasure to the management, and advised their friends not to miss "The Round-Up." In a dramatic way, "The Round-Up" ranks with such splendid productions as "Ben Hur," "Mother Goose" and other great spectacles that have been sent south by the enterprising firm of Klaw & Erlanger. The production is certainly one of the most magnificent that has ever graced the stage at the Grand. To miss "The Round Up" is to miss one of the most interesting attractions of the theatrical season in Atlanta. "The Round-Up" will remain at the Grand the entire week, with a matinee Saturday afternoon.

At the Lyric.

If you want to laugh anod enjoy two and a half hours of rollicking fun, tuneful music, good comedy and the thousand and one things that go to make up an up-to-date musical comedy, do not miss Ward and Vokes this week at the Lyric. These clever funmakers, with their big company of fifty, have about the best musical show that has been seen at the Lyric in many moons. Ward and Vokes are great favorites with local theatergoers and assisted by such clever people as Lucy Daly and Lew Kelly, they keep the fun going throughout the performance, and the up-to-date musical numbers in which the chorus appears, are tuneful and pleasing. A matinee will be given this afternoon, and judging from the large advance sale, it will be another S. R. O. house.

Cecil Spooner.

That Cecil Spooner made many friends during her engagement here last year, was evident by the demand for seats when the sale opened this morning at the Lyric theater, where the dainty little comedienne opens for an engagement of one week next Monday night. This year Miss Spooner is to be seen in Amelia Weed Holbrook's play of laughter, "The Little Terror," a comedy that is said to give Miss Spooner her best opportunity for the display of those talents which have made of her America's representative comedienne.

Every once in a while a theatrical production arises which lifts its head above its fellows and endures the test of time, passing from season to season, and earning continued popularity. "The Merry Widow" is such a production. It challenges the admiration of those who have seen it once so that they come again, and it challenges the curiosity of those who have not seen it at all, because all who have seen it admire it and advertise it.

Henry W. Savage is sending the production of "The Merry Widow" to this city again. It will be there as radiant as ever, without a wrinkle in its beauty, but finer even, than when it was presented to the theatergoers of this city for the first time.

It will be seen at the Grand next Monday and Tuesday for three performances.

At the Orpheum.

Maybelle Adams, the most beautiful woman on the vaudeville stage, is meeting with such distinct and audible favor that the stereotyped "big hit" falls short by several degrees of describing the impression she is making. It is not often that beautiful and sincere music is combined with equal beauty and sincerity of face and form. Therefore it is no great wonder that the Atlanta audiences are both surprised and delighted at finding such in their midst. Hilda Thomas and Lou Hall, in a playlet called the "Substitute," are coming in for a good amount of applause and laughter also. They are so blessedly silly that you can't help but laugh. Another farce is the Sully family of five.

SOUTHERN ROAD WILL ERECT TRANSFER SHED

To Cost Approximately $100,000 at Inman Yards, With Additional Tracks.

The Southern railway is planning to build a transfer station and shed, with additional tracks at Inman yards at a cost of approximately $100,000. Work on this undertaking is to be begun in a very short while.

This is a very small part of the splendid scheme of improvements which the Southern railway will undertake this year, which will aggregate in the grand total about $5,000,000.

Among the principal things to be done immediately in the improvement of its properties is the spending of three-quarters of a million dollars on the shops at Spencer, N. C.

The new freight terminals and office building which the Southern proposes to erect opposite the terminal station, facing Mitchell street and Madison avenue, it is believed, will also be undertaken in a very short while.

J. S. B. Thompson, assistant to the president of the Southern railway, states that the transfer shed and station in the Inman yards will come first, as this is a most important and imperative necessity.

By means of this transfer station, trainloads of freight are made up into compact carload lots, consigned to the same towns and cities south and west of here, and, in that way, proves a great saving in the matter of cars as well as dispatch.

It is expected that this transfer shed, station, additional tracks and all will be built at an early date.

At a recent conference of the Southern railway officials, estimates were considered for the work to be done immediately, which totalled up practically $5,000,000. The Southern is doing much double-tracking on the main line, between here and Washington, and will take up this end of the line later. The year 1910 promises to be a year of construction for this road.

BREAD WILL BE THE CAUSE OF THE NEXT REVOLUTION

Anniston, Ala., January 5.—"The revolution of the twentieth century will be one of bread," said Dr. J. W. Stagg, president of the Alabama Presbyterian college and renowned scholar, this morning. "During the French revolution the people cried for bread, and the king answered: 'Let them eat grass,' and later grass was stuffed down the throat of his skeleton.

"Rockefeller, Morgan and others of the same ilk, make virtually the same answer to the cries of the unemployed today. The average man to capital, but 100 per cent is too much, and the people will rebel. The bread cry, which a few years ago was the plaintive appeal, is growing into a serious rumble, and unless the impending death struggle is solved by an exddus from city to country, I fear a revolution within the next few years."

Referring to the Standard Oil, Dr. Stagg said brains fell from under the patiently gives 6 per cent of his blood organization when Rogers died, and predicted it would soon fall to pieces.

FAMOUS STATUARY TO BE BROUGHT HERE

Architectural Arts League to Aid in Bringing This About.

The regular monthly meeting of the Architectural Arts League was held last night at their rooms in the Austell building.

A committee was appointed, with Harry Leslie Walker, as chairman, to confer with a committee from the chamber of commerce as to the feasibility of bringing to Atlanta some of the models of statuary erected by St. Gaudens. These works of the dead master are now in Indianapolis and it is the purpose of the league to bring them here in conjunction with their spring exhibit, affording Atlanta and, indeed, the south, the first opportunity of seeing such a large collection of the designs of America's most brilliant sculptor.

The league will be held January 16 for the consideration of drawings submitted to be used in half-tone illustrations of the catalog.

PEABODY SCHOOL NOT YET LOCATED

Attempt Will Be Made by the Joint Body to Reach an Agreement.

Nashville, Tenn., January 5.—The question of whether the George Peabody School for Teachers, with $1,000,000 endowment by the trustees of the Peabody fund and $750,000 more from the city, county and state, will come to Nashville is still an open one.

The quarterly court of Davidson county this afternoon adopted a resolution providing for a postponement of the delivery of the $100,000 in bonds previously voted by it to the college. The delivery of these bonds is one of the conditions precedent to the establishment of the school here. The resolution further provides for the appointment of a committee to act with committees from the city council of Nashville and the trustees of the University of Nashville and "the duly constituted authorities of the state of Tennessee," these being the subscribers to the provisional fund.

This joint body is to communicate with the trustees of the Peabody fund and try to reach an agreement as to the location of the college.

JUDGE J. C. BOONE HAS RESIGNED

Ill Health Causes Him to Take Step.

Gainesville, Ga., July 5.—(Special.) Judge J. C. Boone, who has held the position of judge of Hall city court for a little more than a year, has tendered his resignation to Governor Brown, effective at once. He is forced to this by continued ill health.

Judge Boone has made a faithful, fair, impartial and upright judge.

Colonel George K. Looper is a candidate for appointment to succeed Judge Boone. Colonel Looper is a prominent attorney, who has many years active practice. He is well known over the state, and it is likely that he will be unopposed before the governor for appointment. He has been indorsed by the local bar and the citizens generally, and it is believed that he will be given the honor at the hands of Governor Brown at an early date.

New Church at Moultrie.

Moultrie, Ga., January 5.—(Special.) A move for the erection of a new Presbyterian church in Moultrie was set on foot last night at an informal dinner given by C. W. Pidcock. A number of the members of the church were present and it was determined to set to work at once on a new house of worship which will cost $50,000. Nearly $11,000 was subscribed at the first meeting and the rest of the amount needed will be subscribed in a day or two. The church will occupy the same location on East Broad street that the old one occupies.

PROBE ORDERED FOR BALLINGER

Joint Resolution in the House and Senate.

Committee of Twelve Provided For, Six to Be Named by Cannon and Six by Sherman---In Presenting Resolution Senator Jones Defends Ballinger.

Washington, January 5.—The resolution for an investigation of the Ballinger-Pinchot controvery in the house today was referred to the committee on rules. In the senate reference was postponed until tomorrow.

The joint resolution was introduced in the senate by Mr. Jones and in the house by Mr. Humphrey, both of Washington. As heretofore announced, the provision is for the broadest kind of public inquiry, the resolution being of the character requiring the signature of the president, which gives to it all the force of general law.

A committee of twelve is to be appointed to conduct the investigation, six of whom shall be designated by Vice President Sherman and six by Speaker Cannon. Unquestionably, Senator Nelson, chairman of the senate committee on public lands, will head the list of senators, and this doubtless will result in his selection as chairman of the joint committee.

Full Authority Given.

The authority to sit during sessions of congress and in recesses, to require the attendance of witnesses and the production of papers usual to congressional inquiries, is granted by the resolution. It is provided further that any person refusing to obey the process of the committee or to answer any question propounded shall be deemed guilty of contempt, and jurisdiction is conferred upon the court of appeals of the District of Columbia to try and determine any such charges of contempt.

Employment of assistance, "legal or otherwise," is specifically authorized. This provision is for the purpose of enabling the committee to procure the services of able attorneys to take charge of the probing, so far as the directing of questions is concerned. It is the intention of President Taft to have the committee name some competent attorney to conduct the case, and it is possible that both of the principals to the controversy may be represented by counsel.

It was agreed by all persons who have given close attention to the Ballinger-Pinchot squabble that the investigation should be open to the public, and this is ordered by the resolution. One of the big rooms in the new senate office building will be used for this purpose.

Jones Defends Ballinger.

In presenting the resolution in the senate, Mr. Jones said in part:

"The press and magazines of the country for several months have been filled with charges against the present secretary of the interior and his conduct of the office he holds. These charges range from petty insinuations and innuendoes to direct charges of malfeasance and misconduct in office, which, if true, show that he has most unworthily discharged his trust. A moment's thought should cause an honest and fair-minded man to hesitate to accept such charges against a man whose whole life heretofore has been one of the highest rectitude and against whom no dishonorable charge has ever been made in either private or public life.

"Such a man is the present secretary of the interior. He accepted his present position only upon the earnest solicitation of the president. He did not seek it. It meant nothing to him but hard work and poor pay. He gave up a large and lucrative law practice simply at the call of patriotic duty. Is it possible that he at once became the scoundrel and arch enemy of the people that he has been depicted in the public press? I cannot believe it. If he has used his high office to advance special interests, if he has sacrificed the people for private or personal gain, let it be shown. If, on the other hand, the people have been deceived and he has been unjustly accused, that should be shown, not only that justice may be done him, but that the confidence of the public in the honesty and integrity of its public servants may be restored and strengthened and the animus of the attacks disclosed."

HOUSES SELL FOR $2.

They Originally Cost $200,000; Brought $6,500.

Memphis, Tenn., January 5.—One hundred dwelling houses and warehouse buildings, which to erect necessitated an outlay of approximately $200,000, were sold at public auction here yesterday for $6,500. The speedy disposal and removal of the structures was necessary to permit of an immediate commencement of work on a new union depot, to be erected at a cost of $3,000,000. The minimum price paid for the less pretentious buildings was $2, while the maximum for a residence, which cost $5,200 to build eight years ago, was $750.

FREEDOM IS GIVEN TO "WOMAN RAFFLES"

Wife of Millionaire, Convicted of Burglary, Out of Jail.

Chicago, January 5.—Mrs. Evelyn Romadka, known in Milwaukee, where she was prominent in society, as the "Woman Raffles," and wife of a millionaire Milwaukee manufacturer, was paroled from the penitentiary at Joliet yesterday. The release was a surprise, which was kept secret until today. She was convicted two years ago of stealing $1,000 worth of jewelry from Mrs. Clarence E. Beck, of this city. She expects to become a nurse.

Albert T. Jones, a negro, convicted as an accomplice in several robberies with her, was released recently on parole, but was sent back to the penitentiary later.

Milk Takes a Jump.

Montgomery, Ala., January 5.—(Special.)—As a result of the high price of feedstuff the Montgomery milk men have raised the price of milk, giving now only 16 pints for a dollar, where they used to give 20. Ten years ago, says one of them, hulls were bought for $4.50 to $5 a ton; now they cost $11. Cotton seed meal, then costing $16 to $18, now costs $32. Another thing is the fact that the city is pinning them down in great shape to the sanitary rules, making the business much more expensive than in the past.

CURIOSITY OF MESSENGER BOY PREVENTED SUICIDE OF A GIRL

Denver, Col., January 5.—The inquisitiveness of a messenger boy saved the life of a young woman giving the name of Miss Eva Rains, 19 years old, who had taken several bichloride of mercury tablets with suicidal intent.

The girl wrote a note to a man friend informing him of her intentions and gave it to the messenger to deliver. The messenger read the missive and hurried to the police station with it. Police Surgeon Mudd hurried to the girl's room and found her in great agony. Emetics gave relief and an hour later the girl was pronounced out of danger.

She refused to discuss her attempt to end her life.

The note gave instructions to send word to her father, William Frazier, Waterloo, Ind.

FEE OF $272,000 CHARGED BY HARLAN

Chicago Lawyer Wants That Sum for Services to Court.

Chicago, January 5.—John Maynard Harlan has placed a value on his services in assisting the court (Judge Grosscup, to straighten out the tangled affairs of the defunct Chicago Union Traction Company at $272,000.

Of this amount he already has received $72,000, which he has drawn up to a year ago in monthly installments of $2,000, and now he has filed with the court a bill for $200,000 which is a supplemental charge.

Mr. Harlan was appointed by Judge Grosscup to act as special counsel for the court in the Union Traction litigation and bankruptcy proceedings, in December 1905. He acted in this capacity for practically three years—that is, until one year ago—although it was two years ago that the Chicago Railways Company took over the properties of the Union Traction Company, upon the reorganization plan and practically all activity in the courts ceased shortly afterward.

WILL DECIDE ON NEXT SENATOR

Joint Democratic Caucus Will Be Held at Jackson.

Jackson, Miss., January 5.—Mississippi's senatorial contest will be settled at a joint democratic caucus to be held in the state house Thursday night.

The call for the caucus was generally signed today, more than the necessary majority of the members of the legislature having expressed a willingness to take part in the event.

It is understood that an effort will be made at the caucus to drop the lowest man in each succeeding ballot. Some of the members are demanding a secret ballot and it is possible that this plan, which has prevailed in former senatorial contests, may be adopted. Each of the eight candidates has expressed a willingness to submit their candidacy to the caucus, but some of them are opposed to the limitation process and secret ballot. With the exception of Oscar Bledsoe, who withdrew yesterday, it is believed all of the candidates will continue in the race.

LEGAL HANGING DAY TOO GOOD FOR NEGROES

So Judge Says in Sentencing the Assailants of a Woman.

Kansas City, Mo., January 5.—"I do not care to desecrate the day by ordering these two brutes hanged on the legal hanging day."

With this declaration from the bench, Judge Ralph S. Latshaw today sentenced George Reynolds and John Williams, negroes, found guilty last night of attacking Mrs. W. F. Jackson, to be hanged on Saturday, February 5.

"They do not even deserve to be classed with the murderer who must pay the penalty for his crime with his life," continued Judge Latshaw. "It would be an insult to these men who had at least a spark of manhood in their class."

SHINGLER ANNOUNCES FOR STATE SENATOR

Prominent Ashburn Business Man Will Make Race in the Tenth District.

Ashburn, Ga., January 5.—(Special.) In an interview with close personal friends today, Hon. J. S. Shingler stated that he would be a candidate for election to the office of senator from this, the tenth district, in the coming primary. This is Turner county's first opportunity to furnish a senator, and the friends of Mr. Shingler have, for some time, been urging him to consent to make the race, but not until today would he give out any positive statement.

Mr. Shingler is a business man, and is well-known throughout the district and the state. It is very probable that this announcement will bring forth other announcements.

200 CRIMINAL CASES NOW ON ROME DOCKET

Judge Maddox Decides to Devote Four Weeks to the Disposal of Criminal Cases.

Rome, Ga., January 5.—(Special.)—Determined to dispose of the congested criminal docket in Floyd superior court, the first term held by Judge John W. Maddox will have four weeks devoted to the disposal of criminal business. Judge Maddox has decided upon this course, believing it will be for the best interest of the county.

It is said that there are more than 200 criminal cases undisposed of. It will be impossible to handle all of them, even in four weeks of court; but a large number of them will be disposed of. Some of the people accused are in jail, but the majority of them are out on bond. The fifth week will be devoted to civil cases in which Judge Maddox is disqualified. Judge Maddox will be in Walker county that week, presiding over the superior court there, and some other judge will hold court for him here. There are thirty-nine disqualified cases.

After Walker court is over, Judge Maddox will come back to Rome, and in April or May will hold court here again, to dispose of civil business.

FITZGERALD OFFICIALS NAMED BY THE COUNCIL

New Mayor and Council of the South Georgia Town Meet for the First Time.

Fitzgerald, Ga., January 5.—(Special.)—The old mayor and city council met last night and closed up the business of the old year, turning over a nice cash-on-hand balance to the incoming authorities. The past year has been one of the most successful administrations the city has ever had.

The newly elected mayor, Hon. D. W. Paulk, comes to the executive chair with the experience of a previous occupancy, and can be relied upon to conduct the city affairs in an economical, business-like manner. The present council consists of B. J. Reid, president, D. B. Adams, R. Dykes and G. A. Jolly, as holdovers, and Dr. D. B. Ware, Dr. T. E. White, Dr. J. M. Adams, J. A. Seanor and L. Duckworth, as new members. After taking the oath of office, the mayor delivered his inaugural address, outlining his policy for the year, and naming the standing committees, after which Mr. Hanger was elected clerk; H. Smith, chief of police; W. C. Wilkerson, fire chief; Colonel C. Jay, city attorney, and several members of the police and fire departments.

While the new council was organizing, the new board of education was also getting in shape for the year under the new president, J. E. Turner, by electing L. W. Meakin, vice president; D. B. Jay, secretary, and Dr. W. D. Dorminy, treasurer. The new board will start in with all debts paid, and a surplus of $3,000 in the bank.

Auto Fire Engines.

Montgomery, Ala., January 5.—(Special.)—The city is preparing to buy one auto fire engine, one auto truck and one auto chemical engine. They are said to be money-savers in not having to feed and shoe them, an item of great expense with horses. Mayor Gaston Gunter is at work with the council members to greatly increase the efficiency of the department.

AMERICUS FIRE LOSS SMALL

Splendid Report Is Submitted by Fire Department.

Americus, Ga., January 5.—(Special.)—The Americus fire department submitted to the city council tonight the semi-annual report covering the losses during the past six months, or from July 1, 1909. As usual, the report is an excellent one, and reflects great credit upon the efficiency of the department during that period.

With the exception of two fires, the entire property loss sustained in Americus during the six months period will not exceed $500; a remarkable record, indeed.

The two fires to which exception is made were those of the McNeill Bros.' lumber plant, wherein considerable loss was sustained, and the seed house of the Farmers' Oil Company. Both these buildings were gutted by the flames ere the department received the alarm of fire.

Must Accept Shipments.

Natchez, Miss., January 5.—That express companies doing business in this state must accept interstate shipments of liquor to points in Mississippi is held in an order issued by Chancellor J. S. Hicks, enjoining the Southern and American Express Companies from refusing such shipments. The complaint was filed by the Southwestern Express and Telegraph Company, of Vidalia, La., a town across the river from Natchez. Arguments will be heard in February.

RAIN AND COLDER; SAYS THE BUREAU

However, No Such Temperature As That of Recent Snap Expected.

"Rain Thursday and colder." This is the unpleasant prospect for the weather today, as viewed by the weather prophet. That it will be cold there is no doubt, but still there is held out this promise by the forecaster: "Although it will become decidedly colder after the rain, the temperature will not fall as low (10 degrees above zero) as it did during the last cold spell."

Which means that it will drop to freezing and lower during the day if the meteorological signs do not fail.

Just to show that it was going to get this way, the weather took a running start yesterday towards turning colder.

The balmy temperature of the sixties disappeared during Tuesday evening, and at 7 o'clock on that day the thermometer registered 54, while at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning it was at 40, and at noon it had dropped to 37.

The high wind, which swept the city during the early morning hours of Wednesday, hitting it up to thirty miles an hour for a part of the time, bending trees over against houses, during its unleashed fury, continued throughout the day, but at more moderate speed of 20 miles an hour.

"ABE'S LONG SUIT."

But even this made walking on the streets extremely difficult for the ladies, especially in the vicinity of the Candler building, where the wind currents are extremely daring and treacherous.

The wind, veering around to the east late in the afternoon, foreboded a rain within a short while, which the falling temperature will probably convert to sleet and ice by the time it hits the ground.

It is expected that the day will be much colder than Wednesday, and Atlanta will have another big bite—it has gotten beyond the stage of taste now—of winter again.

But even then it will hardly be a comparable cold to that of Winnemucca, Nev., which registered fourteen degrees below freezing on Wednesday morning.

Heavy coats, heavy mittens, plenty of steam heat and short cuts into the cold will, in all probability, be the order of the day.

"It certainly upsets me," said the Gopher, "how things often turn out just as you think they won't. Now, I have a friend, who used to always keep me worried how he found a tailor who could make a coat short enough for him, and now he is kicking because one made a coat too short. The only way I can account for it is, that the tailor used the vest pattern in cutting the coat."

COTTON SCHOOL OPENS AT THE UNIVERSITY

Number of Splendid Addresses Have Already Been Delivered to Farmers.

Athens, Ga., January 5.—(Special.) The University Cotton school opened its third session in this city yesterday morning with what promises to be the largest attendance that has ever registered for the cotton school before.

The active work of the school started Monday, though the day was devoted to registration purposes. At night, in the faculty room, Chancellor David C. Barrow, of the university, addressed the assembled farmers and citizens, and delivered a lecture on the subject of "Waste on the Farm."

Tuesday the day was spent by the large number of farmers who are taking the courses at the Agricultural hall, where the work of studying soils, cotton cultivation, cotton grading, cotton diseases and the cures, and the fertilizers deemed best for cotton, were discussed by the experts of the State college staff, and the actual results of the use of these methods shown at the demonstration plats of the college.

Tuesday night President Andrew M. Soule addressed the assembled students and citizens on the subject of "The Regeneration of Southern Agriculture."

Tonight the lecturer was Commissioner of Agriculture T. G. Hudson, who spoke on "The State and the Farmer."

Washington, January 5.—Occasionally nodding his head in acknowledgement of the admonitions of loyalty to the United States, contained in the oath of office administered to all senators, Colonel James Gordon, ex-confederate leader, who was appointed by Governor Noel as the successor to Senator McLaurin, of Mississippi, was today made a member of the United States senate.

Senator Money accompanied his colleague to the desk of the vice president, Mr. Sherman, who administered the oath of office.

HUGHES LANDS ON INCOME TAX

New York Governor Opposed to Amendment.

He Is Not Opposed to Tax on Incomes Per Se, but Objects to Federal Taxation of Incomes Derived From State Bonds.

Albany, N. Y., January 5.—Governor Hughes, in his annual message to the legislature today, made various recommendations on questions of widespread interest. In a supplementary message he dwelt at length upon the proposed constitutional amendment conferring upon the federal government the power to lay and collect an income tax "from whatever source derived" without apportionment among the states according to population, and in conclusion recommended that this amendment be not ratified.

Why He Objects.

In this connection the governor says:

"I am in favor of conferring upon the federal government the power to lay and collect such a tax. I believe that this power should be held by the federal government so as to properly equip it with the means of meeting national exigencies.

"But the power to tax incomes should not be granted in such terms as to subject to federal taxation the incomes derived from bonds issued by the state itself, or those issued by municipal governments organized under the state's authority. To place the borrowing capacity of the state and of its governmental agencies at the mercy of the federal taxing power would be an impairment of the essential rights of the state, which as its officers we are bound to defend."

Gambling and White Slavery.

The governor recommended an amendment penalizing the practice of bookmaking, even though no bets are recorded. He recommended suppression of the "white slave traffic," favored direct nominations and a short ballot, approved the report of the committee appointed to investigate the stock exchanges of New York and again recommended that the public service commission's law be extended to bring telegraph and telephone companies under the jurisdiction of the commission.

He referred to Mrs. Mary Harriman's offer of a tract of land and $1,000,000 to be held in trust for public park purposes, and to other offers of $1,625,000 from the Palisades park commission for park purposes.

NEGRO ON WARPATH.

Killed Two Negro Men and Wounded Several Others.

Decatur, Ala., January 5.—A telephone message this morning from Judge J. C. Kumpe, at Moulton, Ala., says that a negro man, named Blocker, yesterday shot and killed two negro men, seriously wounded two negro women and seriously wounded several negro men on a plantation near Town Creek, Lawrence county.

The message also stated that Blocker had been arrested. It is not known what motive led up to the shooting.

There is said to be intense excitement among the negroes of Town Creek, and talk of lynching is freely indulged.

DEMOCRATS FIGHT "WHITE SLAVE" BILL

Alleged That Mann Measure Invades the Rights of States.

Washington, January 5.—Characterizing Representative Mann's white slave bill as "drastic and revolutionary," three democratic members of the house committee on interstate and foreign commerce, headed by Representative Richardson, of Alabama, today filed in the house the minority report on that measure, which was favorably acted upon by that committee before the holiday recess. Representatives Adamson and Bartlett, of Georgia, signed the report with Mr. Richardson.

The minority takes no exception to the provisions relative to the transportation of alien women and girls in foreign commerce, and their admission to American ports is not controverted, but the chief objection to the bill is "that under the exclusive authority that congress has under the commerce clause of the constitution, incidentally or otherwise congress cannot in the exercise of police power punish citizens of the states for violating a federal statute made under the pretense of regulating morals and suppressing evils which, in the strictest and most literal sense, is an affair which belongs to the states.

"It is to be regretted," they say, "that the assertion of these fundamental principles, federal and state, arises in a matter relating to the life of degradation that follows the loss of virtue by a girl or woman, native or alien. Such a question necessarily involves the great principle of the extent of the authority of the federal government to exercise police jurisdiction within the limits of the state."

Taft Going to Knoxville.

REPLY IS MADE TO HAMILTON DOUGLAS

Regarding Parish Prison at New Orleans.

Officers of Louisiana Reform Association Ask That He Be Required to Make Specific Charges as to Abuses.

New Orleans, January 5.—Reports of the testimony of Hamilton Douglas, before the city council committee at Atlanta, in connection with the investigation of the conditions in the city prison at Atlanta, Ga., resulted in an immediate investigation by the Louisiana Prison Reform Association. Mr. Douglas was quoted as saying that conditions in the New Orleans prison were worse than those at Atlanta.

Following a telegram sent to the mayor of Atlanta, F. S. Shields, president of the Louisiana Prison Reform Association, and other officers of that organization tonight addressed a letter to the chief executive of the Georgia town, in which they say:

"We beg to state that both the parish prison and the house of detention, where parties are confined for minor offenses, are modern and sanitary buildings, and they are visited once or twice a month by members of the board of prisons and asylums, an official organization of the city, and the Prison Reform Association, a state institution. They are kept in a sanitary and cleanly condition, and the prisoners are treated humanely.

"We would respectfully request that Mr. Douglas be required to make specific charges as to abuses that he may have found existing in either the parish prison or the house of detention of this city, and we would be pleased to know when he visited the city, and what reformatory association he represented when visiting the city and making investigation of the prisoners."

ABOUT TO BE FREED, HE CONFESSED CRIME

If Edwards Had Held Tongue He Would Have Escaped.

Seattle, Wash., January 5.—Royal Edwards, aged 21, had just been arraigned in police court here under a disturbance charge, and the judge impressed by the prisoner's appearance, was about to order his acquittal, when he asked Edwards if he had ever been in trouble before. Looking the judge squarely in the eyes, Edwards replied:

"Ever since December a year ago I have been a fugitive from justice for embezzling $1,400 from a postoffice substation in Pennsylvania. I am sick of being unable to look myself in the face, and want to go back to stand trial for the $1,400 which I stole.

He was turned over to the federal authorities.

SWEAR STOCKADE IS GOOD PRISON

Testimony For Commissioner Public Works.

Investigation Has Lasted Six Days and the End Is Not Yet in Sight --- Some Little Side Scenes Enliven the Proceedings.

The special council committee appointed to investigate the city stockade, held only one session yesterday. This was in the morning, and several witnesses were examined, who testified that the stockade was being as well managed by the commissioner of public works as the money at his command made possible.

The investigation is "dragging its weary length along." It has already lasted six days, and the end is not in sight. The committee adjourned to meet again this morning at 9:30 o'clock, and will probably hold three sessions—one in the morning, one in the afternoon and one at night.

Superintendent Vining was on the stand, and was cross-questioned at length by Attorney Felder.

The session was enlivened by Chairman Candler telling Mr. Felder to condense the examination of witnesses, which caused Mr. Felder to say that he should not be reprimanded.

Mr. Felder at one time seemed to be nettled by a member of the committee asking a witness a question. The committee decided that it would ask all the questions it wanted to.

At one time during the investigation several of the spectators laughed when a witness gave Mr. Felder a tart reply. This caused the attorney to remark:

"You seem to have all the laughers and cacklers on your side, Mr. Arnold, and I will have to get somebody to do a little giggling for me."

Captain Vining Cross-Examined.

On cross-examination, Captain Vining said Mr. Collier knew all about the condition of the stockade, as all matters of importance were reported to him.

The witness said, in answer to questions by Attorney Felder:

"The rings in the stockade wall were placed there under direction of Mr. Collier. If I hung a man or woman up by the rings, it was reported to Mr. Collier if I deemed it was necessary. As to the Ruby Gaither case, I made a verbal report. I told Mr. Seely that I made reports of all punishments to Mr. Collier. He told me often to be merciful in a general way, not in specific cases. About Mr. Collier saying give a convict fifty licks, I want to add that it was hearsay, as somebody told me he said it."

On motion of Attorney Arnold, the committee ruled out the evidence about Mr. Collier and the fifty licks.

Under further questions by Attorney Felder, Captain Vining said:

Mr. Collier Was in Charge.

"I had no right to hire or discharge any of the guards. If Mr. Collier hired a cruel or incompetent man, I had to put up with him. There was no agreement by Mr. Collier to allow the guards their meals and vegetables. If I or any of the guards took vegetables from the city farm, it was a mere gratuity. I never knew of any understanding for the city to take care of chickens and give him eggs or to furnish him with vegetables. I never received no money for such thing. I had no control whatever of the hogs, chickens, barn or farm product. The vegetables taken by the guards was a surplus or such things as were superabundant. We had no way to sell them. I knew nothing about three wagon loads of vegetables being hauled to the police station to be distributed among the policemen. I have seen Mr. Collier take eggs from the stockade. He had about forty hens there that ranged on the farm."

While Attorney Felder was pressing Captain Vining with a question about a horse, Councilman Johnston interrupted and asked the witness a question.

A Little Interruption.

Attorney Felder remarked that if the councilman wanted to conduct the examination of the witness, he, Felder, would quit.

The committee immediately adopted a resolution declaring that any member of the committee had a right to ask questions at any time he wanted to.

Mr. Felder resumed the examination of Captain Vining, who said, in reply to questions:

"Conditions at the stockade have improved since the grand jury inspection, as the city has provided more money. I testified in a case before Judge Reid that only a small per cent of the city convicts were shackled. I meant that we only shackled those that were new and dangerous. I said only a small percentage were kept shackled until their terms expired. I also testified that there were no lice in the building; that the food was good and well cooked, and the building was clean and sanitary. I say now that this is true. The grand jury committee visited the stockade at a time when all the convicts were arriving from the streets, and they therefore got an erroneous impression of the normal condition of the building. I was not expecting the committee. The stockade is always open for inspection, and we do not make any extra preparations for such things. I was told once by Mr. Collier that Councilman Chosewood might make a second inspection, but he did not mean to give me any warning. I had a city convict, who is a plumber's helper, to fix a waste cock at my home. I made no report of this to Mr. Collier. I paid the convict nothing for the work. No convict ever did any carpenter work for me. I once had an old negro convict to put some old condemned sewer pipe in my front yard. The pipe belonged to the city, but was of no value. A convict was once allowed to cut off water when a pipe was busted at the home of a guard. The convict went to town and got drunk. I have had several negro women double-shackled, but I never heard of any serious consequences from the custom. I have one negro woman shackled now, because she runs away at every opportunity. It is not true that we whip convicts because they grumble. We have never had to send a prisoner to a doctor because of a whipping. Sometimes we furnished the whipped convicts with vaseline."

Punishment Not Severe.

Captain Vining denied that women were ever fastened to the wall rings so their arms were stretched to a degree of physical suffering. He said that Will King, an ex-guard, never saw such punishment. The woman, Ruby Gaither, fainted because she was used to such spells. She was not cruelly or even severely punished.

Chairman Candler interrupted Attorney Felder with the remark:

"This committee knows all about the wall rings. If this thing goes on in this way we will be here a year. We don't want the same thing gone over and over again."

Attorney Felder replied that he did not believe he deserved any reprimand from the chairman.

"It will all be published in the papers," said Mr. Felder, "and it is a reflection on me. I have had thirty years' experience at the bar, and I think I know how to conduct a cross-examination."

The chairman said he did not intend to reprimand the attorney, but wanted to save a little time.

Attorney Felder asked a few more questions, and announced he was through with the witness.

Make Grand Stand Play.

In reply to a question by Councilman Johnston, Captain Vining said that the negro convicts pretend to have lice on them whenever they see visitors. He described the different kind of lice, saying there were three varieties, body lice, head lice and crab lice.

On the re-direct examination, Captain Vining said he never made any detailed reports to Mr. Collier of stockade whippings. In regard to the use of convicts to do plumbing work for himself and a guard, he said that it was done because the city's water was wasting.

"We gave the convicts all the vegetables they wanted," stated the witness, "before the guards took any, I have sent vegetables to members of council. Such vegetables would have rotted in the fields."

Alderman Grant wanted to know if working uniforms were provided and cells built, how the convicts would be benefited. The reply was that the convicts should be given a half holiday on Saturday, when they can bathe.

This concluded the testimony of the stockade superintendent.

Convicts Ought to Bathe.

Ex-Convict Guard A. J. Ivey was recalled, and said convicts ought to bathe once a week. It is an easy matter for a convict to remove his clothing without taking off the shackles.

The next witness was Frank P. Rice, the well-known capitalist, and who has held a number of public offices. He testified that the system at the stockade was antiquated. The convicts ought to bathe, be well fed and housed, and then made to work.

"I think," said Mr. Rice, "the city ought to provide sufficient money to improve the stockade. I have seen the food, and it looked clean and wholesome. The baths should be compulsory, for if this is not so, the negroes won't bathe at all."

Policeman Tom Bayne testified that Floyd Green, the negro convict who appeared before the grand jury, had to be punished at the police station.

"I struck the negro on the head with the cell keys," stated the witness. "I worked several years at the stockade, and never saw any cruel treatment of convicts. The only thing needed was a change of clothes for the convicts. I am the station-house turnkey, and prisoners are frequently brought in who have lice on them. The food and sanitary conditions at the stockade are a great deal better than the negroes have in their own homes."

Was a "Louse Expert."

When Attorney Felder questioned Officer Bayne, he alluded to Captain Vining as "louse expert."

R. M. Clay, an ex-stockade guard and assistant superintendent, testified about his whipping a negro girl, the one about whom Dr. McAfee testified. He said the girl was mean and vicious. He hit her four licks the first time, and about six licks the second time. She fought Captain Vining. There was no blood on her clothing, and the whipping was not cruel. He never saw any cruelty at the stockade. The guards all ate the same food as that prepared for the convicts.

Captain Vining was recalled and asked if he drank whisky. The reply was that the last drink he had was at the battle of Atlanta.

Dr. J. S. French, pastor of the First Methodist church, testified that the inspected the city stockade in the spring of 1907. The building was all right, and in good condition. The visit was made in company with Mr. Collier, who is a member of the First Methodist church.

J. J. Clarke, a policeman, testified that Mr. Collier and Captain Vining were a little too lenient in their treatment of the convicts. The food was good. Captain Vining is a man of the very best habits.

G. W. Gaines, a stockade guard, stated that he has had many years of experience with convicts. The stockade compared favorably with any other convict camp in the state. The whippings in the state camps were as frequent, and more severe. Witness never heard of any scrapmeat picked up from the ground and fed to prisoners. He never heard of any camps furnishing convicts with paper.

Before introducing the next witness, Attorney Arnold introduced a city ordinance under which Dr. McAfee and Toney were sent to the stockade. The law, which has since been changed, only allowed the men to be imprisoned.

Thomas Clements, at present an assistant superintendent at the stockade, testified that, since the investigation was started, the city convicts were unruly and hard to manage. The return of the bucking chair to the stockade, however, had helped to restore discipline. The witness said he had had much experience among convicts, and the stockade compared favorably with other camps. The county convicts were given a greater variety of food. The stockade, in the treatment of convicts, was too lenient.

"I whipped two negroes this morning for defying the guards and fighting over a game of craps," stated the witness.

At 12:30 o'clock the committee adjourned.

FEMALE FOOTPAD WORKING CHICAGO

Chicago, January 5.—A female footpad again made her appearance here today. Assisted by a man, a well dressed woman held up and robbed Ernest Yaegel of $8.50 and also battered the victim up a bit.

According to Yaegel he was standing on a street corner, and was accosted by a woman who drew a revolver from her muff and ordered him to hold up his hands. A man then appeared, searched Yaegel and knocked him down. Both the robbers then disappeared.

CHAS. STANLEY FREED, BUT ARRESTED AGAIN

Counterfeiter Goes to Buffalo to Answer the Charge of Forgery.

Charles Stanley, who, yesterday, finished a four-year term in the federal prison here for counterfeiting, having been convicted before Judge Newman, was yesterday surrendered by Warden Moyer to Deputy Marshal Scott for transportation to Buffalo, where a similar charge hangs over his head. With George Whatley, as guard, Deputy Marshal Scott left on the Southern yesterday afternoon with his prisoner, where he will face the federal courts again to answer the charge of forgery. Stanley is a young man of good face and good form, and is an excellent conversationalist. Apart from affirming or denying that he was under his right name, or that he is facing the Buffalo courts under an assumed name, he declined absolutely to discuss his case, simply saying:

"I have taken my medicine so far without complaint, and I have no idea I will weaken when I face the Buffalo courts. Of course, I'd like to be a free man—but who would believe a convict's promise? Goodby."

At the Atlanta federal prison Stanley made a good record, giving no one any trouble during his three years and nearly five months.

AMERICAN GETS POSITION IN SPAIN

Mississippi Man Is Appointed Imperial Minister of Agriculture.

New Orleans, January 5.—J. C. Barnett, of Canton, Miss., a graduate of the Mississippi Agricultural and Mechanical College, was advised that he had been appointed imperial minister of Siam, and that for the next two years he will be stationed at Bangkok.

Beaten Man Identified.

Chicago, January 5.—The man beaten into insensibility at St. Augustine, Fla., and who could not remember his identity, was today identified positively as Ezekiel A. Davis, through a letter received here after his mother had recognized his picture in a local paper. She wrote to St. Augustine for particulars, and the letter, in reply, confirmed her identification.

S.S.S. THE ONLY REMEDY FOR BLOOD POISON

The first symptom of Contagious Blood Poison is usually a little sore or ulcer, so insignificant that often no attention is given it. But when the blood becomes more fully infected with the virus the mouth and throat get sore, glands in the neck and groin swell, and sometimes ulcerate, forming sores and ulcers, the hair comes out, copper colored spots appear on the body, and where the disease is allowed to remain in the system the poison frequently penetrates deeper and attacks the bones. S. S. S. is the true antidote for Contagious Blood Poison—the only remedy that is able to get at the very root of the trouble and remove every particle of the virus from the circulation; at the same time S. S. S. acts with upbuilding and tonic effect on every portion of the system. As soon as the system gets under the influence of S. S. S. the symptoms begin to disappear and soon a perfect cure is made. S. S. S. can be used in the privacy of one's own home and a permanent cure effected. To aid those who wish to cure themselves at home we have prepared a special Home Treatment book which contains much valuable information to Contagious Blood Poison Sufferers. Take anything to brace up the resolution?

Congress will have to catch up when it reaches the cost of living.

With all the insurgents out of the republican party, it will be dead easy to beat.

Hope that the resolution to get after the tobacco trust will not end in smoke.

If a New Year resolution is a bridge which enables you to cross one river, it's a success.

The blue policeman will not halt the joy-riding New Year for exceeding the speed limit.

All signs seem to indicate that Uncle Joe will fail in the effort to put his house in order.

The promise of continued prosperity in the New Year is something for even a blizzard to blow about.

Certain Florida politicians canvass in automobiles, but making the people rubber-tired is as bad as the old way.

To the fancy-skating trust fellows: It will be a long time before Mr. Morse recovers from his fall on the ice.

Gaynor may hear of his presidential boom again, as he has said that his present job will not be a mayor farce.

Senator Depew will give a banquet to the editors who have printed his jokes for half a century. Such gratitude!

If President Taft is such an optimist, why can he not see into the promised land over the insurgent barriers?

Truly, $20,000,000 will be cheap for universal peace, but if we get it, what will 5,000,000 divorce court lawyers do for a living?

Doesn't the Rockefeller breast own up to a twinge of jealousy when the country is referred to as the United States of Mr. Morgan?

Just as congress meets, the crowing chickens are banished from Washington, which will only stand for a session of necessary noise.

If Cannon succeeds in reading the insurgents out of the party, they may be burning the woods when he needs rails to fix his broken fences.

Since there is room for 2,000 people in the federal prison at Atlanta, The Baltimore Sun wonders why the sugar trust is still at large.

The jubilee edition of The Charleston News and Courier turns fifty-two pages of industrial progress as encouragement to the New Year.

The Baltimore Sun calls him "Joseph G. Congress." That is why the insurgents are in arms. They want to share some of the responsibility.

So, the insurgent brethren can't pass their plates for 'possum if they don't sit up straight at table and fold their hands while Deacon Joe says grace.

Mr. Taft intimates that there are good trusts. Trot 'em out of Sunday school and gratify the people that have a consuming desire to look at them.

Food Philosopher Horace Fletcher advises you to chew your food thirty-two times. That will be tough, since prices have the entire country chewing the rag.

JUST SO IT DOESN'T SCOTCH THE PRICE OF COTTON.

Cotton spinners of the south, holding an emergency conference in Charlotte recently, have agreed to "scotch" the price of yarns at cost, failing in which they will immediately curtail production.

To scotch a price means, broadly, to place a wedge under it so it cannot reach a lower level.

The spinners will have the support of the farmer, the business man and the south generally, if—

It doesn't also "scotch" the farmer, by placing a wedge under the present price of COTTON, applying a crowbar to that wedge and prizing the price of COTTON down hill far enough to suit the purposes of the spinner.

The mill men are eminently right in protecting themselves, so far as they are able to do so, and so long as protecting themselves doesn't mean achieving self-preservation at the expense of the farmer.

If the spinners can frame and promulgate an equitable policy that will make the cotton goods market respond more accurately to the cost of raw cotton, they will have the co-operation of every element in the southern states.

Wheat and corn and all other staple products advance in price with an advance in the cost of the raw material.

This is a natural and an inevitable law.

There is no sound reason why the same thing should not be true of cotton.

And, speaking of "scotching"—if any one factor in the national economic scheme has been proverbially the victim of that very effectual practice, it has been the southern farmer, from time immemorial.

The shrewd European spinner, joining forces with the gambling bear, has never hesitated to put a block on the upper side of market prices, AT THE RIGHT TIME, and keep it there from one end of the season to the other.

Of late years, the farmer, through organization, has been doing some "scotching" of his own, except that in his instance the wedge is placed where it belongs—on the MINIMUM side of cotton.

World consumption of cotton will exhaust the present crop before the next crop is out of the soil.

If the spinners need help in holding the fort until then, the farmer will help them, and so will the business man.

But the farmer will NOT do it by knocking the block from under HIS main dependence.

CO-ORDINATE AND UNIFORM ROAD BUILDING.

From Representative G. Ogden Persons, of Monroe county, The Constitution publishes today one of the strongest expressions recently made relative to the necessity for uniform, co-ordinate and harmonious county action in the work of road building.

The way best to bring about this concert of action is through the establishment of a state highway commission, which may be inexpensively done, as The Constitution has pointed out, in direct connection with the prison commission—most simply by the selection of an expert road engineer, with essential powers and authority, as a member of that body.

Representative Persons proposes that the state shall put a premium upon its convict labor in the shape of requirement that the county shall, as a pre-requisite to receiving it, make an appropriation from its treasury, or by bond issue, to road building and improvement.

The doctrine and practice of self-help are of demonstrated advantage and wonderfully productive in achievement.

But whatever the state does in this direction, it should make provision for doing through a competent highway commission endowed with reasonable discretion, so as not to hamper progress at any point.

It should make provision, as it has at present, for keeping every able-bodied convict continually upon the public roads.

By legislating in the light of experience, Georgia can work out a law which will conduce ultimately to the greatest measure of co-ordination in road building, which will prove of state as well as county advantage.

And this should be the aim, even though it becomes necessary for the state itself to work some of the convicts upon the roads under the direct supervision and control of its commission.

What Georgia wants, what each county wants, is results that will give the best service for the longest time.

We should have a law, as Representative Persons puts it, that will insure the investment of tax money and convict labor in "permanent road work."

Georgia has made a good beginning, but perfection was not expected in inception; it remains to smooth off rough surfaces and round up the points, that waste, through ignorance or carelessness, may be eliminated.

It costs a little bit more and takes more time to build a road that will be as good next year and the next, than one which will serve for a few months and go to pieces with the first touch of rainy weather.

But it costs less to build the substantial and permanent road than it does to rebuild the makeshift with each succeeding year.

It is that principle that Georgia should put into legal operation.

DEATH OF JAMES M. GRIGGS.

Surprise, shock and grief will spring from the announcement of the sudden death at his home in Dawson of Congressman James M. Griggs, of the second Georgia district.

Stricken down in the prime of life, not having yet reached the half-century mark, Judge Griggs has passed at a time when most men are coming into years of ripened experience, reaching their period of greatest ability and usefulness.

Judge Griggs has been prominent in the public and political life of Georgia for more than twenty years, and his steady and continued promotion was a tribute not only to his ability, but to his personal magnetism and widespread popularity.

Shortly following his admission to the bar he came to Atlanta in 1887 as one of the under-secretaries to the clerk of the house of representatives. In those days the legislature elected solicitors general and judges, and his popularity brought him success in his candidacy for the former office in the Pataula circuit. Re-elected in 1892, he resigned the year following to accept appointment to the judgeship, to which he was twice re-elected without opposition.

Then followed his election to congress from the second Georgia district and a service of more than twelve years in the national legislative body, where no member, perhaps, has ever enjoyed a greater personal popularity, and where important position and honors came to him through that characteristic and his ability in the performance of their functions. He was one of the few democratic members of the house ways and means committee, the most important committee of that body, and twice held the distinguished honor of chairman of the democratic congressional campaign committee, in which his splendid work bespoke the wisdom of the choice.

Few men have enjoyed a wider acquaintance and friendship among those of national and international importance and note, a fact which gave him distinct advantage in the performance of public service.

Constant in his attendance upon congressional sessions, energetic and resourceful, always ready with response to call of party, state or district, quick to answer the humblest petition from constituent, many years of capable and useful service might have yet been his had death not called so quickly.

Judge Griggs will be missed, not alone from congressional halls, but from his state, wherein he had made warm friends from one end of it to the other.

SUPT. SLATON'S REPORT.

Forcefully indicative of the growth of Atlanta's public schools, the recent annual report of Superintendent William M. Slaton also reveals with striking effect the necessity of such liberality as will permit our educational system to keep pace with the natural expansion of the city.

Superintendent Slaton shows that during his administration of two and one-half years the enrollment has increased from 15,988 to 19,000, and that by next June it will reach 20,000.

In two and one-half years the number of teachers has increased from 325 to 427. The total number of teachers, directors and supernumeraries is now 450.

The percentage of growth here stated by the superintendent is enough in itself to point the wisdom of generously providing for the multiplying needs of this institution, in the safekeeping of which is the welfare of the men and women of tomorrow.

But when to that natural growth is added the additional demands of Greater Atlanta, the duty of a broad policy toward the schools is seen to be doubly imperative.

In this connection, Superintendent Slaton argues strongly for the impending municipal bond issue. He points out that it is unjust to scholars to compel them, as in many present instances, to study in lots of sixty pupils to the room. One of the primary aims of the schools' proportion of the issue is to lessen this undesirable condition.

Superintendent Slaton has shown himself in admirable harmony with the intricate demands of a difficult position. He is to be congraulated on his broad grasp of the essentials of one of the most vital branches of the city's government.

CHAIRMAN S. B. TURMAN.

The Fulton County Board of Commissioners starts the new year under the able chairmanship of one of Atlanta's best known and most successful business men—S. B. Turman.

Mr. Turman succeeds to the chairmanship after a term of service upon the board and its various committees, as a result of which he is well equipped in knowledge and experience for the more important duties and responsibilities which devolve upon its presiding officer.

Elected, although opposed, by the largest vote ever given a county commissioner, the first commissioner ever elected from the south end of the county beyond the city limits, and breaking the record by his election when there was one country member already upon the board, Mr. Turman's known ability and personal popularity overcame every obstacle in the unusual success of his candidacy.

A Georgian by birth, a native of Columbus, and of distinguished Georgia ancestry, Chairman Turman has in him the qualities that make for success and he has built upon them.

He came to Atlanta more than twenty years ago, and though engaged continually in the real estate business, he has found time to devote to other successful enterprises, both of private and public nature, and has never hesitated to give his services to city and county whenever there was need or call for them.

Fulton's board of commissioners is fortunate in his leadership, and with county affairs in the splendid shape in which they have been left by retiring Chairman E. V. Carter, the year is bright with promise of substantial progress.

SPECIAL OFFICER REESE ARRESTS HIS OWN SONS

After learning that his son had been implicated in the burglary of the Park Pharmacy, 294 South Boulevard, several nights ago, Special Officer Reese, doing duty at the Fulton Bag and Cotton Mills, arrested him and turned him over to the police.

J. L. Reese, aged 20, was the name of the derelict son, and was arraigned with his other brother, Clifford G. Reese, and Thomas Lewis, another young white man, before Recorder Nash Broyles yesterday afternoon.

The trio plead guilty and were bound over to the state courts on a charge of burglary.

Clifford Reese and Lewis were arrested by Police Officers Barfield, Webb and Bailey, who used the city tracking hounds. Special Officer Reese, upon learning that his own son was under arrest, made him confess to a third man, who proved to be his brother, J. L. Reese. About one hundred dollars' worth of goods were stolen from the pharmacy.

MARIST COLLEGE WILL GIVE ANNUAL PLAY

A novelty in the way of entertainments will be offered at the Grand on the night of January 27, when the Marist college cadets will present their annual entertainment.

In past years, Marist has usually had an annual play, but this year a minstrel first part and a gymnastic and military second part have been substituted.

The gymnastic work, which will be shown, will be something rather different from the usual run. There will be drills of various sorts, including Indian clubs, bar bells and dumb bells. There will be free hand exercises, work on the busk and the German horse, and parallel bars.

The military work will consist of three drilles, a Zouave drill by Company A, a silent drill by Company B, and a squad and extended drill by Company C.

Letters From People

State Should Legislate.

Editor Constitution: I have always read with interest the editorials of The Constitution on the subject of good roads. I have joined with enthusiasm the practical efforts made by The Constitution and other state papers for the improvement of our public roads, but I am especially struck with the force of your editorial on the subject of "Real Achievement in Road-Building," which appeared in your issue of the 3d instant. This editorial gets down to the gist of the cause, and should be approved and indorsed by every citizen of the state.

What we need now is some uniform, concerted action on the part of the county officials in this state for actual road improvement in their respective counties, which will mean a uniform program for the entire state. I had hoped that some of the vast sums which are being given out as political patronage by the ways and means committee in congress for the supposed improvement of rivers and harbors would be appropriated by the national government to the improvement of highways throughout the nation, but I presume that this dream will be some years in fulfillment, inasmuch as President Taft has stated recently that public road-building was a work for the states and not for the federal government.

Now, to do this work by the states is the end greatly desired. As a member of the general assembly which put the convicts on the public roads of the state, and as a member of the present general assembly, I most heartily approve some plan as is outlined in your editorial along the line of the Virginia law. With the great work that is being done by Sumter county on her roads, why is it that other counties, this (Monroe) county, can't do the same thing? We are spending vast sums for road work, but our methods are antiquated and without permanent effect. How much better would it be for the counties to issue bonds and take the money thus raised and apply it to the purchase of such machinery and material as is best suited for road work, and then with furnished convict labor, map out and execute a plan of permanent road work that does not mean scraping the top soil and filling in holes that will be washed away by the first rain?

If the farmers of this state could only grasp the great saving that would come to them from good roads, to say nothing of the convenience and pleasure in having them, they would not hesitate a moment to vote road bonds, or special road taxation in order to raise the funds to do the work. If they are not willing to do this, then let them so express themselves. If they are willing to do this, then give them the convict labor to help them carry out the work.

There certainly ought to be an act passed by the coming legislature that will create a state road commission, and this commission ought to be given power to so let out the convict labor of the state as to get the most good from it. This can only be done by giving its use to those counties which are willing to expend it in the greatest service to the state by building permanent roads.

The south and Georgia are on the eve of a great industrial awakening. One of the greatest newspapers of the country has styled this section as the coming west. By this it is meant that all of the great natural qualities inherent in the west which drew such heavy drafts on the other states are also inherent in the south and Georgia. It is stated by this same paper that Georgia has more natural wealth than Indiana, and that all it needs is the labor and money to develop it. This same paper will publish a southern number on the 22d instant, and in its foreword of this issue it says: "From Richmond all the way round to New Orleans there are four pre-eminent subjects of talk: good roads, good schools, good farming, industrial training." Without overworking the term, it can be most emphatically asserted that "good roads" will absolutely insure the realization of the three remaining subjects mentioned.

Let the people and their representatives think hard on this subject of good roads, and from their combined thought let some law of a comprehensive, state-wide nature be enacted at the coming session of the legislature that will absolutely insure the realization of good roads, and let's stop the expenditure of another dollar of the taxpayers' money, or another day of the convicts' labor in anything but permanent road work. I stand ready to join my legislative colleagues in this great work.

Gossip at the Capitol

The railroad commission yesterday adopted a new rule relative to delivery by express companies, requiring that wherever a delivery service is maintained, deliveries shall be free within a radius of one mile from the company's office.

The rule is as follows:

"In cities or towns in this state where delivery service is maintained by an express company, no extra charge shall be made for door delivery within a radius of one mile from the office of such company, provided the point of delivery is within the corporate limits of any such city or town."

ATLANTA MAN BUILDING CARTERSVILLE THEATER

J. R. Smith Erecting Handsome Opera House and Business Block in the Town.

Cartersville, Ga., January 5.—(Special.)—The work on the opera house and business houses that are being constructed in this city by James R. Smith, the Atlanta merchant and real estate man, is again started, and the building will be rushed to completion as soon as possible. The structure will be built along the most modern lines, and when completed will afford a play house for this city that will be complete and well appointed. The seating capacity is estimated at 1,200, and the best attractions on the road will be booked. There will be a number of offices in the building on the same floor with the main auditorium, and a number of stores on the ground floor. February 15 is the date set for occupancy of the building.

NEW COMMITTEES NAMED BY CHAMBER

Work Also Outlined For "New Industries" Committee.

At the first regular meeting of the directors of the Chamber of Commerce, held in their rooms, yesterday afternoon, Vice President John E. Murphy, chairman of the committee on "new industries," outlined briefly the plan in mind to organize a stock company for the promotion of new industries in Atlanta, which, if carried out, gives prospect of bringing millions of dollars of the new industries to Atlanta.

Mr. Murphy will call a meeting of his committee at an early date, and with them will evolve a comprehensive plan, which will then be reported to the directors for action.

It is suggested that a company be organized by the members of the Chamber of Commerce, with a capital of $200,000, for the purpose of locating new industries desirous of coming to Atlanta here. This is not to be a Chamber of Commerce company, but one suggested it.

It is proposed that when a new industry makes a proposition to have its plant established here and states that it would do so if Atlantans would subscribe to its stock, to have this proposition referred to this company, and there to have the details worked out.

The entire plan, to be made public later, will doubtless prove of interest.

This, the first meeting of the board of directors, lasted over an hour. The five departments and sixty committees were divided and each was put under the direct management of the president, Colonel F. J. Paxon, or one of the three vice presidents.

Vice President Murphy is in charge of the departments of trade, industries and finance.

Second Vice President Wilmer L. Moore is in charge of those of liberal arts and health.

Third Vice President Mell R. Wilkinson is in charge of civics and social economy, and President Paxon the rest.

Ben Lee Crew, chairman of the committee on membership, presented, on behalf of the donors, the prizes offered for new members, and won by B. M. Grant and J. A. Fischer.

V. H. Kreigshaber, who represents the Chamber of Commerce on the city campaign committee, made an interesting talk in regard to the forthcoming election, and was followed by Mr. Crew, who, as president of the Young Men's Democratic League, pledged the support of that organization for the bond issue, and outlined the work this organization proposed to do.

It was decided to revise the charter and constitution of the Chamber of Commerce, and on this committee President Paxon named V. H. Kreigshaber, John E. Murphy, Mell R. Wilkinson, Wilmer L. Moore, D. Woodward, J. K. Orr and Sam D. Jones. The present charter and constitution was adopted in 1883.

President Paxon read the letter from Mayor Maddox, requesting the appointment of a committee from the Chamber of Commerce to wait, with a committee from the city council, upon President Taft, in an effort to secure the postoffice building for Atlanta as a city hall. This committee will be named later.

Victor Smith requested that a committee be named by this body to attend the National Civic Federation, which is to meet soon in Washington. This committee, too, will be named later.

Those present at this meeting were: President F. J. Paxon, ex-officio chairman; J. E. Murphy, M. R. Wilkinson, V. H. Kreigshaber, C. H. Kelley, Brooks Morgan, W. W. Orr, V. L. Smith and Ben Lee Crew.

CHRISTIAN TO RETURN TO SEABOARD AIR LINE

Former Assistant General Passenger Agent Will Be Located at Columbia.

William E. Christian, who, about eighteen months ago, resigned his position with the Seaboard Air Line railroad as assistant general passenger agent, with headquarters in Atlanta, will again rejoin the forces of the Seaboard, and be located at Columbia, S. C., according to a report current in railroad circles in Atlanta yesterday. Nothing official could be learned in regard to this report. There are few men in the railroad world who ever had more friends than "Billy" Christian in this city and throughout this section of the south. He was prominently identified with the Southeastern Passenger Association, and was always found in the forefront of the affairs undertaken by the Atlanta railroad men.

It was while he was a resident of Atlanta that President Roosevelt appointed his son, Stonewall Jackson Christian, a grandson of the famous General Stonewall Jackson, to West Point, where Cadet Christian is a student, soon to be graduated.

Definite information in regard to Mr. Christian's location and position will be awaited with interest.

E. M. WILLINGHAM NAMED KIRKWOOD'S NEW MAYOR

The city of Kirkwood has just emerged from the throes of a red hot political campaign. As a result E. M. Willingham, of the Willingham-Pittman Lumber Company, now stands ready, willing and eager to assume the official garb of mayor and all that is appended thereto.

The citizens of Kirkwood claim that they have not been properly noticed by Atlanta folk. They say that Kirkwood is not only a model place in which to live, but that now after some changes, she also presents a model of municipal government and that Atlanta might do worse than look to her as a pattern.

For the last two weeks every man, woman and child has been engrossed in politics. This issue and that issue was discussed with fervor, but all wrangling was avoided. Though Willingham defeated his opponent, Harry Burr, by a good majority, no bitterness has resulted and everybody is pulling together for a Greater Kirdwood.

In addition to the mayor, the following council was elected: M. S. Ransom, Hal Revere, J. M. Estes, M. D. Thompson, R. L. Mason. Frank Fenn was elected recorder.

THE FACT that the business of this bank during the past year has increased more than thirty per cent is evidence of an increased number of depositors and satisfactory service.

STATE OFFICIALS WAGE FURIOUS BATTLE WHILE LONE CITIZEN LOOKS ON

REV. CRAWFORD JACKSON.

J. B. GENTLE,
Governor of the Juvenile State.

Athens, Ga., January 5.—(Special.)—Reports from the seat of government of the Georgia Juvenile State, located about six miles from Athens, tell of a merry civil war between the state's governor, its superintendent and its general secretary, while its lone citizen watched the battle from a safe vantage point.

It is even reported that during the melee the governor so far forgot his exalted position as to cast stones at the superintendent, who retaliated by taking a pot shot at the governor with a load of birdshot, at which point the general secretary came to the aid of his beleagured governor, the two succeeding in putting to rout the rebellious superintendent, until the advent of the latter's family, when the tide turned the other way.

The Juvenile State, which was recently founded about six miles from this city, a few months ago, had a sensation in its midst yesterday which will disrupt the institution for some time at least, and which will come as a surprise to those who have watched and assisted this worthy movement in the state.

When the Juvenile State was founded on the magnificent farm donated by Dr. Hardman, James M. Rogers was installed as superintendent, and Rev. Crawford Jackson, the general secretary of the Juvenile Protective Association, was directing the management of the farm.

In November John B. Gentle, the young man whom Rev. Jackson picked from an Atlanta court and reformed, was installed by Judge Richard Russell as governor of the institution. For a while there was only one sitizen of the Junior State, Richard Moore, of Gainesville, but everything went so smoothly and the work was being pushed all over the state.

But some time ago there arose a misunderstanding between the superintendent and the governor, with the result that Monday it culminated in an open clash, and the former came to this city and stated to many citizens that there had been an open fight and that Rev. Jackson and Gentle came near being killed.

Superintendent Rogers stated that after a heated discussion with General Secretary Crawford Jackson concerning the settlement of affairs relative to the severance of the superintendent's connection with the institution, Governor Gentle became incensed and threw a heavy piece of rock salt at Superintendent Rogers, missing him narrowly, but striking Mrs. Rogers and inflicting an ugly wound on the right wrist, which required the services of a surgeon.

Rogers Fires at Gentle.

Mr. Rogers stated that after this he seized his shotgun, which he had close at hand, having anticipated trouble with Gentle and General Secretary Jackson, and attempted to shoot Gentle. His gun missed fire the first time and the second time his aim was bad, though some of the shot went through Gentle's clothing. Mr. Rogers stated that then Gentle rushed upon him, hurling other stones as he came, and being by far stronger physically, threw Mr. Rogers to the ground, and while he was struggling with the muscular young man, Mr. Rogers stated that Rev. Jackson also took a hand in the affair and encouraged and aided Gentle.

Immediately after Mr. Rogers' family had intervened and stopped the conflict, Superintendent Rogers came at once to Athens, where he employed a lawyer and consulted with him about the affair.

Mr. Rogers stated that the affair was the culmination of a long misunderstanding, which grew out of differences extending over a month or more, causing the superintendent to decide to sever his connection with the State and remove to this city.

Says Gentle Mauled Rogers.

Rev. Crawford Jackson was reached by phone at Center, and his version of the affair practically corroborated the statements made here by Mr. Rogers in regard to the assault and shooting, except that Mr. Jackson stated that Rogers shot at Gentle twice, missing both times, and that then Gentle took away the weapon and mauled him soundly. He stated that his own actions were solely in protection of himself and young Gentle, as Rogers was evidently beside himself with rage. He has sworn out a warrant for Superintendent Rogers at Center, charging him with assault with intent to murder.

Mr. Rogers has not sworn out a warrant yet for young Gentle, but while here yesterday stated that he and the "governor" of the "state" never agreed and that Gentle defied his authority time and time again, and that Gentle was guilty a number of times of misconduct toward the superintendent and superintendent's family.

The matter created quite a sensation in this city and it is likely that there will be more developments when the results of Mr. Rogers' conference with his lawyer become known.

In view of the fact that Rev. Jackson held a union service in this city Sunday night in the interest of the Juvenile State, and contributions were sought from the citizens, these developments at the unique reformatory are being viewed with much interest.

BOND CAMPAIGN NOW UNDER WAY

Committee Outlines a Preliminary Plan.

Headquarters Will Be Established in City Hall---Registration Has Already Reached Nearly 4,000---Campaign Will Be Brisk and Very Active.

A preliminary meeting of the executive committee of the general bond committee was held in the mayor's office yesterday at noon, and a temporary plan of procedure was outlined.

The committee decided to get to work at once, in order that the $3,000,000 of city bonds be carried at the election on February 15. It was the sense of the committee that there should be regular headquarters established in the city hall, from where the work of the bond campaign can be conducted.

The bond election was discussed at some length. The mayor told the committee that he had had a talk with the city registrar, and had been informed that already between 3,500 and 4,000 voters had registered this year. The number so early in the year was exceedingly large. The registrar believed that the total number of registered voters by February 15 would be something like 8,000. It would, therefore, require 5,000 votes placed in the ballot box for the bonds. Every vote that was not cast was a vote against the bonds, as the law requires that two-thirds of the registered votes be cast for the bonds.

Will Take Active Campaign.

"It will take some very active and hard work to carry the election," stated the mayor, "for there is always a large per cent of the voters who register and never vote at all. Such will be against the bonds. Then we must count on some sort of opposition. I believe that an active campaign, one that will show the people the great necessity for the bonds, and that will convince them the money will be equitably spent through the entire city, will result in the bonds carrying by a good majority."

Members of the committee talked along the same line. All present were ready to begin a campaign and keep at work until the day of the election.

It was stated that the Federation of Trades had selected a committee of seven, one of whom would act with the executive committee.

A Plan for the Campaign.

Walter G. Cooper, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, submitted a plan for the campaign that embodied the following points:

1. The success of any campaign depends on system and detailed work; second, get as many voters registered as possible; third, find out how the voters stand; fourth, convince the doubtful ones; fifth, get the votes for the bonds into the ballot box.

A special committee of citizens will be named to raise a campaign fund. With this fund literature will be prepared, bearing on the bond issue, and sent out to the voters of the city.

The committee will meet again today at 12 o'clock in the mayor's office.

Here Are Fur Hats of Uncommon Smartness

The vogue of the Fur Hat is perhaps the most emphatic in millinery at the present time.

In our climate, heavy fur coats are not so generally worn, because not needed. Our women, for the most part, wear the lighter weight coats. Therefore, fur sets are correspondingly more popular---stoles, shawls, scarves, collars, muffs and Hats.

The collar and muff are in almost every instance supplemented by a becoming turban or fur to match. There's good sense and infinite good style in this fashion.

We have some particularly elegant Fur Hats, to which we ask your attention. They are fashioned--some in very jaunty styles; others after the dignified lines that are becoming to certain types. There are hats aud turbans of

Lynx Mink Caracul
Coney Imitation Mole
Seal Ermine

There are Hats that will greatly please you because of their elegant and becoming style. Egrets, fancy feathers, metal ornaments, or perhaps a cluster of choice flowers are used for the trimmings.

Come and see these Fur Hats--the choosing of one will give you much pleasure. See them at any rate.

TO BAPTIZE BURGE ON EVE OF HANGING?

Man to Be Hanged Friday Will Be Immersed.

George Burge, under sentence to die on the gallows in the Tower Friday for the alleged murder of his wife, will be made a full-fledged member of the Western Heights Baptist church this afternoon, the eve of the execution.

The condemned man, escorted by a special guard authorized for the purpose by the governor, will be taken from his cell in the Tower to the church, where he will be formally immersed by Rev. A. C. Schuler, the pastor.

Following the baptism, which will be marked with all the solemnity incident to such occasions, Burge will be returned to his cell, the death watch will guard over him during the night and at noon Friday he will mount the scaffold to take his penalty.

According to the present arrangement the baptism will take place in the Western Heights Baptist church some time after 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon, it being planned to take Burge from his cell at that hour.

Burge will be the first condemned prisoner in the history of the Fulton county jail to be taken from his death cell to a church for the purpose of baptism. Several days ago Burge professed religion and expressed a desire to be baptized by immersion before paying his penalty.

As there is no arrangement in the Tower for an immersion, permission was secured from Governor Brown through Rev. A. C. Schuler to have the exercise take place in his church. Six deputy sheriffs will form the escort accompanying Burge to and from the church.

It seems that there will be no further stay of execution for Burge and Sheriff C. Wheeler Mangum and Jailer Golden have placed the gallows in readiness. Burge still protests innocence of the crime charged against him. He seems happy over the thought that when the sun rises on the day of his execution the light will shine upon a man who has professed Christianity.

No Official Notice Yet.

No official notice from Governor Brown, allowing Burge to be taken to the church for baptism, had been filed with Sheriff Mangum last night, and until such notice is received, Sheriff Mangum will refuse to allow the condemned man to leave his cell under any circumstances.

According to Sheriff Mangum, it would be hazardous to allow Burge out of the Tower, even when accompanied by a heavy guard, as untold complications might arise for which his official position would be held responsible.

The Western Heights Baptist church is located at 577 Chestnut street, on the River car line.

Louisville, Ky., January 5.—"We have not received an answer to the communication we sent to the writer of the letter about Alma Kellner, which for a time we thought to be genuine," said Frank Fehr, "and it seems as though we are as far from the solution of the mystery as on the day the child disappeared."

MRS. MORSE VISITS HUSBAND AGAIN

Will Probably Do So Every Day--Was Interviewed.

Mrs. Charles W. Morse, wife of the convicted banker now serving his sentence in the federal prison, visited her husband for a second time yesterday afternoon. The first visit was Tuesday, the day she arrived. Her visit was a "special visit" allowed by the warden when business interests of the parties concerned makes this advisable.

It was quite a shock to Mrs. Morse when her husband was brought to the room in which she was waiting for him, to see him without his familiar gray-black mustache. It had been shaved off during the morning when the Bertillon measurements were taken and he was photographed, front and side face, for identification. His head was unshaved, though, as this feature, like the lock step, has been eliminated at the prison.

His mustache will be allowed to grow out again, as there is no rule against a prisoner wearing one. Hundreds of men out there do wear these facial adornments. But it is the invariable custom to photograph all prisoners with clean faces.

It is very probable that she will see Mr. Morse every day during her brief stay. She will probably return to New York on Saturday. In view of the fact that Mrs. Morse attends to so much of Mr. Morse's business, and has done so for months now, these visits are imperative.

On Wednesday morning Mrs. Morse granted her first interview to the newspaper men in the city. She came into the ladies' parlor of the Piedmont hotel shortly after 10:30 o'clock, and the interview, a brief one, was concluded a few minutes later. She was escorted by Mr. Reid, who remained with her all the while. Mrs. Morse wore a dark three-cornered hat and over her face was a black veil. Her suit was of dark green, with a form-fitting jacket.

Even through the veil the magnetic beauty of the woman, marred by the heavy lines of care and worry, was easily noticeable. She spoke in a low tone, in which there was the slightest quier, as though he were controlling her voice and features with the greatest difficulty, and was going through the trying ordeal in the belief and hope she was helping her husband's cause.

She began by saying that she had nothing new to give out. "Mr. Littleton, we have decided," she continued, looking at Mr. Reid, "will not come to Atlanta just yet—not until I go back to New York, which I must the latter part of the week. And until then nothing can or will be done."

Asked if she intended to take her husband's appeal to the president by petition, she replied: "Yes, we are going to begin on that at once. Already I have received letters, hundreds of them, from people we never heard of, and also from our friends asking to have petitions sent to them for signatures, and that they be allowed to help in this way. We will continue to fight this case in the courts. Neither will conflict. If we fail by one, we may win by the other. We are going to fight all along the line."

Mrs. Morse was asked if, when she saw Mr. Morse, that he was as brave and cheerful as ever. She began to answer, "Yes, he is as brave and as strong as ever," and overwhelmed by a flood of memories, her voice quivered, great tears welled up into her eyes, her tones broke and she sobbed, "That is all," and turned her head. The interview was over.

MRS. FISKE WILL PLAY MATINEE PERFORMANCE

The ladies of Atlanta are to see Mrs. Minnie Maddern Fiske in "Salvation Neil," at a matinee performance on Saturday of next week. This is an unexpected pleasure, arranged only after a long-distance conversation between Manager Henry DeGive in Atlanta and the manager of "Salvation Neil," in New Orleans.

But it cost to make this change in the original contract; it cost a performance, which means the matinee will take the place of the night performance. So there will be no night performance on Saturday night.

When R. L. Giffen, the advance man for this company, was closing up the advance details with Mr. DeGive mention was made of the fact that it was a pity no matinee was to be given in Atlanta Saturday.

It was on account of the great feminine interest in "Salvation Nell" that brought about this switch in performances.

FOR A NEW COURTHOUSE COUNTY BOARD STANDS

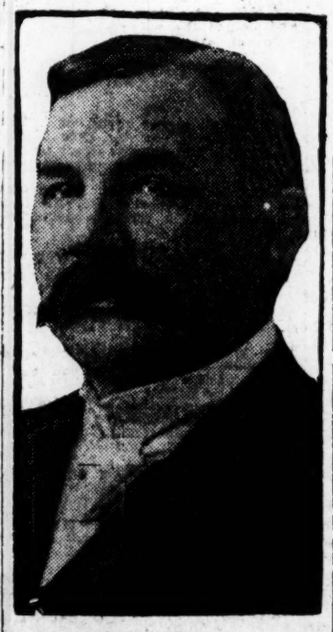

The matter of the new court house came up briefly before the board of county commissioners at their meeting yesterday, and it seemed to be the sentiment of all the commissioners present that it would be useless to go on patching up the old building, but that the present building should be torn down completely and built anew with the idea in view principally of having the record rooms accessible to all and strictly fireproof.

The matter was referred to a committee with instructions to study the matter carefully and report to the board at its next meeting.

One piece of repairing was ordered done—that of putting in an extension phone in the sheriff's office for the convenience of the bookkeeper.

TURMAN MADE CHAIRMAN OF THE COUNTY BOARD

At the regular monthly meeting of the board of county commissioners of Fulton county at the courthouse yesterday, the first meeting of the new year, S. B. Turman, the well-known real estate dealer, was elected chairman of the board for the ensuing year.

S. B. TURMAN.
Elected Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners at Their Organization Yesterday.

Mr. Turman was nominated by Judge Palmer, who at the same time nominated Forrest Adair for vice chairman. The vote was put to the board, and the election of both of these gentlemen was unanimous.

Mr. Turman was born in Columbus, Ga. He has been in the real estate business in Atlanta since 1888. He served as district road commissioner for four years, and was afterwards a member of the board of education for the same length of time.

Mr. Turman established the Atlanta Lithographing Company, and was president of that concern for seven years. He represents several foreign corporations that invest their money in Atlanta. He aided in the building of the car line to Lakewood and establishing the park on the old waterworks property.

Mr. Turman was formerly chairman of the finance committee of the Young Men's Christian Association, and is chairman of the Chamber of Commerce committee for the present year on taxation and assessments.

Last year, Mr. Turman was vice chairman of the county board, member of the public works committee, chairman of the industrial farm committee and the committee of quarantine and sanitation.

Mr. Turman received the heaviest vote ever given a county commissioner, was the first commissioner ever elected from the south end of the county out of the city. His election to the board was the first time that a country resident was elected to the board when there was already one place filled by a country member, his election making the second from the country. Previously there were four from the city and one from the country.

The present officers of the county were elected for the ensuing year, to wit: T. J. Donaldson, superintendent of public works; T. A. E. Means, superintendent of the industrial farm; O. Fannin, superintendent of the almshouse; S. P. Marbutt, custodian, and Andy Howard, engineer at the jail.

A motion was also made and passed, paying these gentlemen the same salaries for the ensuing year.

LOCAL HOTEL MEN ELECT NEW OFFICERS

The annual meeting and banquet of the Hotel Men's Association of Atlanta was held at the Piedmont hotel last night, and the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, James T. Williams, of Durand's; vice president, H. M. Dutton, of the Piedmont; secretary and treasurer, Fred H. Houser, of the Aragon; Lee Jordan, attorney. The following executive committee was elected: Wallace Boyd, of Boyd's; H. C. Larvalere, of the Scoville, and Buno Bakofzer, of the Terminal.

INJUNCTION CASE UP AGAIN TODAY

The hearing of the injunction filed by the citizens of South Atlanta to restrain the city of Atlanta from taking in that section of the city was started before Judge Ellis yesterday.

The case consumed the entire day, and as it had not been finished when adjournment hour was reached, it was continued over until today. Counsel for both sides argued the legality of the case, referring frequently to portions of the state code to base their contentions.

The court room was crowded at the hearing. The visitors' gallery was a picture. This was crowded with the negro residents of South Atlanta, fully seventy-five in number, who watched the proceedings intently and listened closely to every word spoken.

It is doubtful, owing to the argument of counsel and the legal contentions, based upon the code of the state, whether the case will be finished even today.

Bartow County Farms Sold.

Cartersville, Ga., January 5.—(Special.)—The high price of Bartow county farm lands was shown when the plantation belonging to the estate of the late J. R. M. Burge, 8 miles from this city, was sold by the administrators for the sum of $14,000. The farm lies in the seventeenth district, and third section of the county, and is on each side of the Etowah river. It contains 250 acres, 35 of which are under the bed of the river. The price per acre, exclusive of that portion which forms the bed of the river, was about $70. N. M. Adams was the purchaser, and the price was paid in cash. At the same time and place another farm in the Caswille district, known as the P. Hawkins farm, was sold by the executor. This farm, consisting of 320 acres, brought $6,625. It was purchased by C. B. Richards.

The Atlanta Turners are now arranging for a series of bi-weekly entertainments for the rest of the winter months, these entertainments to be for the members of the association and their families and a few invited guests.

Thursday evening next, the initial number will be presented when Dr. Friedrich Michel, one of the most distinguished German scholars in America, will give a recital of German poetry in the Turner auditorium. "Little Tim" Died Poor.

New York, January 5.—While it was generally thought that the late "Little Tim" Sullivan, Tammany aldermanic leader, had died a millionaire, it is now understood that he left practically nothing. Only $2,000 on deposit in a bank is all the cash said to be available for his widow and son.

SOCIETY

MISS MARTHA WOODWARD, MARRIED TO MR. FLAGLER

The marriage of Miss Martha Woodward and Mr. Thomas Thorn Flagler took place last night at the home of the bride's parents, Colonel and Mrs. Park Woodward, on West Peachtree street, and was witnessed by a large assemblage of friends and relatives. The ceremony was performed by Dr. Bernard Smith, of the West End Christian church. Lieutenant Roscoe Hearn, United States army, acted as best man, and the bride's sister, Miss Bessie Woodward, was maid of honor.

The orchestra, in the library, played the wedding march from Lohengrin, as the bridal party came down the stairway. Miss Laura Payne, the first bridesmaid, coming first; then followed Miss Helen Payne and Miss Lottie Wylie; Miss Lizzie Lyon came alone, and then the matrons of honor, Mrs. Hearn and Mrs. Carleton Smith.

The maid of honor directly preceded the bride, who entered with her father. At an improvised altar, she was met by the groom and his best man, when the ceremony was performed. Afterwards there was a reception and an elegant supper served buffet style.

The bride's gown was of exquisite daintiness, the material white olga crepe and the trimming pearl and crystal. The long princess lines were broken by a draped effect near the bottom of the skirt, the draperies caught with a pearl ornament. The corsage was embroidered in pearls, with here and there the sparkling crystals inset, and her tulle veil was caught to the hair with orange blossoms. Her only jewel was a pendant of diamonds, the gift of the groom's father. She carried a bouquet of white orchids, showered with valley lilies.

The maid of honor wore a white olga crepe gown, the corsage embroidered and showing threads of silver. She carried a bouquet of meteor roses and valley lilies. The bridesmaids wore draped gowns of white panne crepe, and carried bouquets of American Beauty roses.

Mrs. Woodward, the mother of the bride, wore an elegant toilet of cream-colored Maltese lace, the whole robe woven in one piece, and brought to her by her son, Lieutenant Woodward, from the east.

The decorations throughout the house were elaborate and artistic, quantities of woodland bamboo used as a background; potted plants introduced here and there, and cut flowers in red and white.

The hallway had decorations in palms and bay trees. The woodwork of the stairway was concealed by the graceful vine of American smilax, and white columns festooned with smilax and tipped with clusters of Easter lilies, formed an aisle from the base of the stairway to the living room, through this passage the bridal party passing.

In the circular end of the living room there was a bank of palms and bay trees, and in the center was the prie-dieu, before which the young couple stood during the nuptial blessing.

On each side of the prie-deux clusters of lilies were tied, and tall pedestals held cathedral candelabras, holding unshaded waxen tapers.

On the mantel in the drawing room, breaking a mass of potted fern, was a vase holding pink roses and narcissi, the same flowers in vases on the cabinet.

In the dining room the table from which the sweets were served reflected the color scheme of white and red in Richmond roses and valley lilies. These formed the centerpiece, while around it were silver candlesticks, their lights softened by shades of white silk rose petals. Silver compotes held white embossed cakes, and the bonbons were in white and red. On the mantel and buffet there were vases of Richmond roses and candlesticks with unshaded tapers.

In the breakfast room all the decorations were in green.

Mr. Flagler and his bride left on the midnight train for an extended trip north, going first to visit Mr. Flagler's native city, Lockport, N. Y., where his father, Mr. Horace Flagler, is a prominent citizen. Mr. Flagler has resided in Atlanta about two years, having come as assistant to the general agent of the Standard Oil Company. He has made many friends here, both in business and social circles.

Miss Woodward is the second daughter of Colonel and Mrs. Woodward. Since her debut four years ago, Miss Woodward has been one of the most popular young women in Atlanta society. She is a brunette beauty, bright and charming, and possesses a voice of rare sweetness and cultivation. She represents two families of prominence and distinction: her mother was Miss Howell, the daughter of the late Judge Clark Howell, of Atlanta, and she is a niece of Mrs. Frances Orme.

Among the out-of-town guests at the wedding were: Mrs. B. E. Guerrard and Mr. Woodward Guerrard, of Asheville, N. C.; Messrs. G. H. Stansbury, C. H. Hand and David Fee, from Covington, Ky.; Mr. and Mrs. McAlpin, of Ohio; Mrs. E. T. Moon, of LaGrange, Ga.; Mr. Robert Sanders, and Mr. Joseph Helm, of Kentucky; Dr. Joseph Woodward, of New Orleans.

Mrs. Grant's Reception.

One of the most beautiful afternoon parties of the year was that at which Mrs. John W. Grant entertained yesterday afternoon when several hundred ladies were delightfully entertained. There were music and flowers and lights and an atmosphere full of hospitality, and one of the features adding to the success as well as beauty of the occasion, was the group of charming women who assisted Mrs. Grant in the entertainment of her guests. They received the guests in the different rooms, in the number being Mrs. William D. Grant, Mrs. Hugh Inman, Mrs. John Marshall Slaton, Mrs. Edward Inman, Mrs. Samuel Inman, Mrs. Henry Jackson, Mrs. Robert F. Maddox, Mrs. H. M. Atkinson, Mrs. Morris Brandon, Mrs. Clarke Howell, Mrs. Henry Bankhead, Mrs. J. Carroll Payne, Mrs. Thomas B. Paine, Mrs. John M. Slaton, Mrs. John S. Cohen, Mrs. Joseph T. Orme, Mrs. Frank Inman, Mrs. James D. Robinson, Mrs. W. H. Kiser, Mrs. Frank S. Ellis, Mrs. Henry Inman, Mrs. John D. Little, Mrs. F. L. Payson, Mrs. Francis Block, Mrs. Howard Bell, Mrs. Walter Howard, Mrs. Don A. Pardee, Mrs. George Battey, Mrs. William Bailey Lamar, Mrs. Harry Chamberlin, Mrs. Albert Thornton, Miss Sarah Bell, Miss Adrienne Battey, Miss Frances Nunnally and Miss May Atkinson.

The decorations carried a most artistic scheme throughout the entire house, and although there was still the radiant holiday scheme in the hallway, the cedar wreaths, tied with red ribbons, and the potted azaleas with red blooms, the lines of Frank Stanton were suggested in the decorations, as the guests passed through the rooms—those lines:

"The south wind goes a-sighing on his way,
Over bright hill and glade.
Surely the violets are out today,
The rose on dress parade."

For there were spring flowers on all sides permeating the atmosphere with their fragrance and in harmony with the mural decorations in each apartment.

In the drawing room where Mrs. Grant received, the mantel had banked upon it with fern, dozens of jonquils, their gold-lighted blossoms reflected in the mirror which was partially veiled with asparagus fern.

In the library the cabinets were banked with foliage plants, and there were palms in the corners of the room, while across in the dining room there was the "rose on dress parade"—the full blooming Killarney rose with showers of valley lilies falling wherever the roses were.

The table in the center of the room had on it an elevated star-shaped plateau of the roses, the points of the star extending to the four corners of the table. From the center of the table arose a tall vase, filled with a bouquet of the roses and showered with valley lilies.

Candle shades of pink under silver filigree tipped the silver candlesticks, and the bonbons were served on little silver platters and were embossed with tiny roses.

The long buffet had vases of pink roses and the cabinet above was a mass of potted pink begonias. Silver platters filled with delicious sandwiches were served from here. The mantel was decorated with the begonia and pink roses, and in the alcove cabinets on each side of the mantel, there were potted azaleas showing pink blossoms.

Novelty and beauty were combined in the decorations in the sun parlor, where punch was served. It presented all the charm of the tropical garden. Broad-leafed palms lined the walls, and the woodwork above was concealed by a lattice work of bamboo. From this hung Florida moss, which found its way through the bunches of oranges, which appeared to be actually growing on their own trees, so artistically was the idea presented. A little teahouse was over the punch bowl, and the roof and walls of it were hung with malaga grapes and their foliage.

The punch bowl was in a mound of tropical fruits, and presiding here was Miss Nunnally and Miss Atkinson.

At 7 o'clock the ladies of the receiving party were joined by their husbands, and Mr. and Mrs. Grant entertained at a buffet supper.

Mrs. Grant, whose beauty at all times distinguished her, was charming in a black satin gown, the corsage of blue embroidered in gold and jet.

The ladies of the receiving party wore elegant toilets, demi-evening style.

Among the ladies calling, Mrs. Kilpatrick, of New York, wore a becoming toilet of amber colored satin, embroidered; her hat in black, trimmed in plumes. Mrs. E. H. Butler, of Buffalo, wore a sapphire blue satin gown veiled in black chiffon. Mrs. J. G. Oglesby wore a black cashmere de soie embroidered in gold, her hat of black trimmed in rose-colored plumes. Mrs. J. K. Ottley wore a white lisse gown embroidered in cherry blossoms, her hat trimmed in rose plumes. Mrs. Charles S. Gately wore a gray chiffon jet gown, with trimmings of chinchilla. Mrs. Howard Bucknell wore a rose-colored cashmere de soie gown embroidered in gold. Mrs. L. H. Beck wore a crush raspberry moire antique gown, the corsage trimmed in rose color, and a sprinkling of cut jet. Mrs. E. H. Barnes wore a gray crepe de chine gown with corsage trimmings of lace. Mrs. John E. Murphy wore a black satin gown, the corsage of gold embroidered in emeralds.

Mrs. Linton Hopkins wore a black satin gown trimmed in cut jet. Mrs. Macallen Marsh wore a black cashmere de soie gown embroidered, and a black plumed hat. Mrs. John Kiser wore a black satin gown, the corsage of red satin veiled in black tulle embroidered in gold. Mrs. Floyd McRae was handsomely gowned in gray. Mrs. Robert F. Shedden wore a two-toned satin gown combining the shades of blue and gold. There was a touch of fur about the corsage, and her black hat was trimmed in paradise aigrettes.

Mrs. Victor Smith wore a blue satin gown embroidered. Mrs. Percival Sneed wore a gray lisse gown, with a touch of amethyst about the corsage. Mrs. Thomas D. Meador wore a gray chiffon velvet gown, the corsage embroidered in silver. Mrs. W. G. Humphrey wore a mahogany colored satin gown, with black plumed hat. Mrs. Roby Robinson wore a silver blue faille silk, the corsage embroidered in silver. Mrs. Frank Orme, who was one of the most beautiful women present, wore a black satin gown trimmed in jet, and a blue hat trimmed in black plumes.

Mrs. H. C. Barnes wore a stone blue satin gown embroidered, and a black plumed hat. Mrs. Lee Lewman wore black chiffon over American Beauty satin.

To Mrs. Twitchell.

Mrs. W. H. Nutting's bridge tea was a delightfully informal affair of yesterday, assembling twelve ladies for bridge, and a few others afterwards for tea. Mrs. Ernest Twitchell, of Cincinnati, who is visiting her sister, Mrs. Logan Bleckley, was guest of honor.

Mrs. Bleckley and Mrs. Nash Broyles assisted in entertaining.

To Mrs. Ivy.

One of the prettiest events of the week was the "500" party given by Mrs. Julian J. Neville on Tuesday afternoon in honor of her daughter, Mrs. Paul S. Ivy, of Kansas City, Mo. Mrs. Ivy has been making her home in Kansas since her marriage several years ago, and a few of her friends among the younger set were invited.

Miss Marguerite McDonald won the first prize, a cut glass vase; the consolation, a corsage bouquet of roses, was cut by Miss Berma Daniel, and the charming guest of honor was presented with a corsage bouquet of sweetpeas.

After the game, a delicious bird course was served.

The following guests enjoyed Mrs Neville's hospitality: Mrs. Clayton Berry, Mrs. Edward Brewer, Miss May Hardin, Miss Bessie Burkett, Miss Annie May Truitt, Miss Mary Fraser, Miss Berma Daniell, Miss Julia Moeckle, Miss Marguerite McDonald, Miss Letitia Greene, Miss Alma Overbey, Misses Catherine and Martha Akers and Misses Sadie and Rebie Workman.

Beautiful Music.

The beauty of the music presented by the Atlanta Philharmonic Orchestra on their first appearance several weeks ago will doubtless act as a good advertisement for their second concert, which takes place next Sunday afternoon at the Grand.

It was the reading of Schubert's "Unfinished" Symphony, Mr. Hubner conducting, which aroused the most enthusiastic comment after the first concert, and this fact promises well for the performance next Sunday of the Andante from the Fifth Symphony by Beethoven, which occupies on the second program a position similar in importance to that of the Schubert number on the first.

The varied nature of the program is suggested by its range from Beethoven to ballet music by Delibes; from the solemnity of Mendelssohn's "Elijah," Mr. E. A. Werner singing the aria, "It Is Enough," to the glowing color and rich musical effects of Rubinstein's wedding march, from "Feramors."

Baptist Woman's Union.

The executive board of the Baptist Woman's Union of Atlanta and vicinity will hold a meeting at the First Baptist church Friday afternoon, January 7, at 3:30 o'clock. The members are composed of the president of each society belonging to the union or her representative, and the following officers: President, Mrs. W. P. Anderson; first vice president, Mrs. Charles W. Daniel; second vice president, Mrs. J. C. Thompson; third vice president; Mrs. George Westmoreland; recording secretary, Mrs. Julian S. Rogers; corresponding secretary, Mrs. R. O. Randal; custodian, Mrs. Terrell; reporter, Mrs. J. B. Hardin; treasurer, Mrs. T. J. Buchanan.

Surprise Party.

At the home of the Rev. Dr. H. K Pendleton, pastor of the First Christian church, a surprise party was given Tuesday night in honor of Miss Katharine Rex Pendleton and Mr. Robert Haddow, Jr., of Tacoma, Wash.

The surprise proved effectual and amusing to the gathered friends. Classical music by Mrs. Scott Bell and Miss Muse lent its charm to the entertainment. "Forty-two" and an original contest were the prize games. A delicious buffet supper was served.

Those present were: Rev. and Mrs. Pendleton, Miss Pendleton, Mrs. Jasper Bell, Mrs. Scott Bell, Miss Helen Muse, Miss Louise Johnson, Miss Marguerite McDonald; Messrs. Robert Haddow, Jr., Scott Bell, Jasper Bell, Dr. C. C. Stockard, Mr. R. W. Crenshaw and Dr. J. Sherwood Jacoby.

MEDICAL INSPECTION OF SCHOOL CHILDREN

Dr. Stewart R. Roberts, medical director of the medical inspection department of the city schools, has submitted a report to the mayor of two examinations he made of the pupils of the Pryor Street school. He says the comparative examinations show how much such inspection is needed. The report is an interesting one, as it gives a very clear idea of how all the medical examinations in the schools have resulted.

The comparative statement shows that out of 344 children, 207 were defective, and only 137 normal.

The full comparative statement is as follows:

	May. 1909.	Dec. 1909
Number of children examined	344	361
Number normal	137	260
Number defective	207	101
Number and character of defects:
Nutrition	4	0
Anemia	23	0
Glands	31	3
Heart	10	3
Skin	6	1
Eyes	74	21
Teeth	89	47
Tonsils	38	27
Adenoids	64	28
Ears	2	0
Lungs	2	1
Bone disease	2	0
No scar of vaccination		57

The per cent of defects on first examination in May was 60; the per cent in December, on second examination, including both old pupils, once examined, and new pupils, never examined, is 28, or a decrease in per cent of defective children of 32. There are 123 new pupils in school with 46 defective. Subtracting the 46 defective new pupils from the 101 total defective, we have only 55 of the old pupils defective, or a per cent of 15, as against 60 with the same pupils last year. In this school, between May and December, 140 children have been treated, 32 operated on for adenoids and tonsils; 17 fitted with glasses. Of those recommended for treatemnt, 67 per cent have been treated.

DOG GIVES ITS LIFE TO SAVE ITS MASTER

Canine Met Wild Boar as It Charged on the Hunter.

Santa Rosa, Cal., January 5.—Letting itself be torn to shreds to save its master, a heroic dog met death near Skaggs Springs yesterday. A wild boar hunt is being held to exterminate a herd that has terrorized travelers through the forests for years, and one of the hunters was weaponless when a huge boar broke from the underbrush.

The hunter's dog met the brute's charge, and in an effort to turn the boar from his master, was cut to ribbons before other members of the party arrived to kill the boar.

HAS FULL POWER AS TO SCHEDULES

Commission Can Require Joint Publication.

So Declares Special Attorney James K. Hines--Commission to Take Matter Up for Action at Meeting to Be Held Next Week.

That the railroad commision has full power to require the joint publication of schedules—arrivals and departures of passenger trains—in any community where the necessity for it exists, regardless of the expense of such publication to the railroad companies, is the opinion of Judge James K. Hines, special attorney to the railroad commission, rendered yesterday.

The commission will take the matter of publication of schedules in Atlanta up for consideration and probable action as its next meeting, and in the light of the opinion of Judge Hines, it would seem comparatively an easy matter to forecast its conclusion. The commission has uniformly adopted the opinions of Judge Hines heretofore rendered.

It was in connection with the complaint made by the Atlanta Travelers' Protective Association that the commission requested an opinion from Judge Hines on the subject.

It is a well-known fact that the publication of schedules in Atlanta is wellnigh a farce. In some instances they are published in one newspaper only once a week; some are published in one place and some in another, until the average patron of the railroads knows not where to look for them or how to get the desired information.

With telephones almost continually busy, it is difficult to get the information in that way, and frequently prospective passengers have had to go in person to railroad offices to find out.

What Judge Hines Says.

After a hearing on the subject as the result of the complaint of members of the Atlanta Travelers' Protective Association organizations, the commission took the matter under advisement and asked Judge Hines several questions in connection with it.

In answer to the question as to whether the commission has the power to require the railroads to publish their schedules jointly, Judge Hines says:

"At first I was inclined to the opinion that the commission did not possess the power and authority to require railroads to publish their schedules jointly. After investigation and reflection, I am of the opinion that you have this power.

"It is not requiring them to make a joint contract—it is simply requiring a joint service and facility."

The commission asked whether it had the right to compel such joint publication by the railroads irrespective of expense. Judge Hines said in part:

"Whenever a service and facility is reasonable and necessary, the railroads must furnish such service and facility regardless of expense."

While expense may enter as one of the factors into the reasonableness of the requirement, it is sufficient that the combined facts shall show the order to be a reasonable one. A railroad, for instance, must keep its roadbed in repair, regardless of the price of labor and materials.

Judge Hines further enters into a discussion at the commission's request, of the meaning of a "square" used in connection with newspaper advertisements. The meaning of the word is somewhat obscure, as he shows by conflicting definitions, though the common acceptation of the term, according to the view of the railroad commission since its establishment, is an inch of space.

GRIGGS STRICKEN BY SUDDEN DEATH

ly this afternoon. He had already made preparations to return to his duties in Washington.

This morning Judge Griggs felt better, and had a barber shave him, after which he expressed his purpose to go up town, but his physician told him he must not do so. This afternoon Judge Griggs and his wife were in their room on separate beds. Noticing that her husband was breathing hard, Mrs. Griggs directed a girl in the room to arouse him. Seeing that when spoken to and touched by the girl, Judge Griggs gave no response, Mrs. Griggs became alarmed, and as sick as she was, rushed to his bedside. She was unable to get any response to her call or touch, and within a few moments Judge Griggs ceased to breathe, and it was realized that he was dead. The physicians pronounced his death due to a stroke of apoplexy. Colleagues in Washington have been notified, but funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

Sketch of Congressman Griggs.

James Mathews Griggs was born at LaGrange, Ga., on March 29, 1861, and was educated in the common schools of Georgia and at the Peabody Normal College, at Nashville, Tenn., from which institution he was graduated in May, 1881. After graduation, he taught school and studied law. He was admitted to the bar in 1883, and commenced the practice of his profession in 1884 at Alapaha, Berrien county, Georgia. He was for a short time connected with the newspaper business, but moved to Dawson in 1885, where he was elected solicitor general of the Pataula circuit in 1888, and was reelected in 1892. He resigned this position in 1893, and was appointed judge of the circuit, and was twice reelected without opposition.

Makes Race for Congress.

He resigned this office in 1896 to make the race for congress. He was a delegate to the national democratic convention of 1892; was chairman of the democratic congressional campaign committee in 1904 and 1906, and was elected to the fifty-fifth, fifty-sixth, fifty-seventh, fifty-eighth, fifty-ninth, sixtieth and sixty-first congresses, being reelected over Judge S. Anderson Roddenbery after one of the most spirited campaigns in the history of the district.

GEORGIANS IN WASHINGTON ARE SHOCKED BY THE NEWS

Washington, January 5.—(Special.) The flash that announced the death of Judge Jim Griggs carried deep sorrow to the hearts of all Georgians in Washington. There was no more popular or widely loved member of the house. Democratic, genial and likeable, he swiftly attracted to his list of friends all with whom he came into contact. More than that, he was a man of splendid mentality, which added to his attractive personality and made him a forceful figure.

He loved life. He rejoiced in the companionship and affection of his friends. Good fellowship was to him a creed. Nothing of the braggart, he had yet the spirit of Mercutio. An all-pervading good humor enveloped a spirit that would brook no injustice. He fought his enemies as cheerfully as he esteemed his friends deeply.

"His death is a distinct loss to Georgia," said Colonel Livingston, on learning the sad news. "He served as a member on some of the most important committees of the house, and was in a position to do much good for his state. His untimely taking off is a personal bereavement."

"I have known Judge Griggs all my life, and his death is a great shock to me," said Judge Bartlett. "He was warm-hearted and generous. He will be missed in the house and in the gatherings of his party."

"He was a most lovable man; brilliant, brainy and capable," was the tribute of Gordon Lee, when told by The Constitution representative of Judge Griggs' end.

"I am deeply grieved and shocked," responded Judge Adamson, when told the news. "No one who knew Jim Griggs could help loving him. His place will be hard to fill. He was one of the very smartest men in congress. No man could more quickly gain or hold the attention of the house. I have known him since he was a boy. He was born and raised in LaGrange, in my district. He was one of five Georgia representatives who came to the fifty-fifth congress for the first time, the others being Howard, Brantley, Bartlett and myself. I am overwhelmed at the announcement that he is no more."

"He was a splendid character, an able, fearless and brave man," said Representative Hardwick.

THERE'S MUCH SPECULATION AS TO GRIGGS' SUCCESSOR

Albany, Ga., January 5.—(Special.) The passing of Congressman James M. Griggs, who died unexpectedly at his home in Dawson late this afternoon, opens up a wide field of speculation as to successorship to the office suddenly made vacant. It is hardly anticipated that announcements of aspirants will be made before the funeral of the dead congressman takes place, but it is confidently expected that there will be no dearth of candidates.

There are a dozen men in the district, which contains a greater number of counties than any other in the state, who are mentioned tonight as possible candidates for the vacant congressional seat, but it may be stated without fear of contradiction that no individual looms large as a probable favorite. It is presumed that Judge Anderson Roddenbery, of Thomasville, will make the race. He opposed Judge Griggs in the primary of 1906 and carried three counties, and is known not to have laid his congressional ambition permanently away. Former Superior Court Judge W. N. Spence, of Camilla, who has thought seriously of making the race several times, is again mentioned, as is Judge W. A. Covington, of Moultrie. In fact, there is hardly a county in the district that has not a favorite son or two who may be viewed tonight as a possible successor to Judge Griggs. The hold which the congressman who passed away this afternoon had upon the confidence and affection of the people of his district was wonderful. All combinations were powerless against his popularity, and it appeared that his seat in the lower house was his as long as he might live and desire to retain it. His sudden death has spread over the district a sorrow which enters thousands of homes as a poignant personal one.

TAFT MADE CZAR OF CANAL ZONE

House Passes Bill to Centralize Government.

Democrats Made Spirited Attack on Section Giving President Military, Civil and Judicial Powers, Including Power to Make Laws.

Washington, January 5.—With the democrats fighting every inch of the way, the Mann bill, providing for the administration of the Panama canal zone and centralizing the government thereof in the president of the United States, passed the house today by a vote of 119 to 102. The voting was along strict party lines.

The minority kept the house in session until 5 o'clock this evening by offering amendment after amendment, and demanding tellers of each vote. A futile effort was made by Representative Richardson, of Alabama, to have the measure recommitted to the committee on interstate and foreign commerce, an aye and nay vote resulting 104 ayes and 136 nays.

Spirited Attack by Democrats.

Section 2 of the bill, which confers on the president, military, civil and judicial powers, including the power to make laws, was the object of spirited attack. Representative Keifer, of Ohio, joining the democrats in the fight.

The attitude of the majority and minority on this section may be best described by a question propounded to Representative Garrett, of Tennessee, and by Mr. Townsend's reply.

"Do you believe that congress has any power under the constitution to confer legislative power on the president?" asked Mr. Garrett.

"Ordinarily, no," replied Mr. Townsend. "In this instance, yes. We are in Panama digging a canal and it is necessary for the president to have the power to make rules and regulations for the government of the zone while that work is in progress."

Representative Mann, author of the bill, claimed that precedent for delegation of such power in the executive was found in similar action by democratic congresses at the time of the Louisiana purchase and again when Florida was ceded to the United States by Spain.

Harrison Defends Democrats.

Defending his party, Representative Harrison, of New York, said that disturbed internal conditions made such action necessary, but that despotic government in those territories was continued no longer than was necessary to establish local government. Speeches were made by Representatives Underwood, of Alabama; Hardwick, of Georgia, and others in opposition to this section. A motion of Mr. Hardwick to strike out the section entirely was lost by the close vote of 85 to 90.

The bill, as it goes to the senate, authorizes the president to have the Panama canal completed and to appoint a director general of the canal and the canl zone, thus doing away with the canal commission.

It invests the judicial power of the zone in one circuit court and such inferior courts as the president may constitute and allows appeal to the supreme court of the United States in civil cases involving $5,000, and in criminal cases punishable by death or life imprisonment. Trial by jury is granted in all criminal prosecutions for felony.

Since the expiration of the fifty-eighth congress, there has been no act in terms authorizing the government of the canal zone; but President Roosevelt continued in existence the civil government of the zone after the act of April 28, 1904, became ineffective automatically.

Why Do a Hundred Thousand Merchants Do Business With Atlanta Through Us?

Not for sentiment, but because it pays them.

Not because we offer them a Free Trip to come and buy, but because they find the stuff here when they come.

Not because Atlanta says "Buy," but because Atlanta has the goods they want to buy.

Not because Atlanta's 2,000 Traveling Salesmen cover Dixie like they do, but because those salesmen have lines that equal the best on earth---lines that meet and beat competition from anywhere.

Not because Atlanta sells everything from shoestrings to sawmills, but because those same shoestrings and sawmills and all the commodities in between, have the merit that makes them sell.

Atlanta Has The Goods!

That's why 100,000 merchants are making Atlanta their market.

That's why we're banded together to bring 100,000 more in touch with our resources and supplies. Our factories and foundries are working all the time and overtime to meet the demands. Our warehouses and stores are crammed with the goods wanted by southern consumers. Our repositories and agencies are working like beavers to give you their best.

Our railroad facilities are superb---our freight terminals adequate. Our shipping resources peerless. Atlanta is the Gate City in fact.

Bush Hasn't Signed Yet.

Detroit, Mich., January 5.—Owen Bush, the Detroit shortstop, came to Detroit yesterday, talked terms with President Navin and returned to Indianapolis without signing. He was offered a raise, as all other veteran local players have been, but thinks the advance is not enough.

Bonus Offered Stallings.

New York, January 5.—Manager George Stallings, of the New York American League club, has been offered a bonus of $2,500 if he captures the league gonfalon, $2,000 for second place, $1,500 for third honors and $1,000 for fourth.

FINE MAIN BOUT AT MONROE A. C.

Jimmy Dasher Meets Mike Knockemoffski There Tonight.

Tonight at the Monroe Athletic Club, in the Steiner-Emery Building, on Viaduct Place, one of the classiest bouts that has ever been pulled off in this city is scheduled for the main bout of the evening.

JIMMY DASHER,
Who Meets Mike Knockemoffski at the Monroe Athletic Club Tonight.

Jimmy Dasher, of Savannah, and Mike (Knockemoffski) Saul are the principals, two boys at the top of the ladder in the lightweight class in this section of the country.

Both boys are trained to the minute. They have been trying to get a crack at one another for some time past and they did not let any grass grow under their feet pending the arrangements being made for the bout, so that they would be in fine shape when the opening gong sounded.

Dasher is, in the opinion of many, the best boy at his weight who ever stepped in a ring in this city or in the state. He is quick, aggressive, carries a good wallop in both mits, is scientific and is always willing to give and take with any of them.

Knockemoffski is much on Dasher's style of a boxer. The Russian Nihilist has met every one in his class that would meet him since he came to Atlanta and has bested them all. What more could be asked of a scrapper?

The monster stove will be in operation again tonight and patrons of the club will be kept comfortable all during the evening. Two fast preliminaries have also been booked and the first one will start promptly at 9 o'clock. The other two bouts will follow right behind without any delay.

The winner of the main bout will probably be matched up with some boxer from the east of the top-notch order. That, too, should prove a great card.

"COMMODORE" SPEAKS KINDLY OF ATLANTA A. C.

In speaking of the recent trip of the Vanderbilt basketball team, some writer who signs himself "Commodore" in an article in the Nashville Tennessean, says the following of the team's visit to Atlanta. Presumably the writer is some member of the Commodore's squad:

"Atlanta has a team composed of veteran players coached by Heisman, of Georgia Tech. The captain of the Atlanta team remarked before the game that there was not a man of his team who had not played the game for at least eight years. The game was won by the score of 53 to 30. Vanderbilt used eight men in this game, all of the substitutes having a chance to show their form. After the din of battle had subsided on the basketball floor, cheering gave way to music and an enjoyable dance was had. The Atlanta players were extremely courteous and were kind enough to say they thought Vanderbilt had the classiest team that had been on the floor and would be able to clean up with any team in the south. They further said that they did not object to being beaten by such a gentlemanly bunch of players. Not an angry word was exchanged between the players during the entire game."

PERRY'S BOWLERS WIN TWO OUT OF THREE

Last night, at the Atlanta Athletic Club, the second game of the second round of the bowling tournament between the teams captained by Fay and Perry, resulted in the former winning one game and the latter two. Only the three highest games count in the total. Here are the scores:

	1st.	2nd.	3rd.
Fay	133	180	177
King	117	132	132
Timmons	212	170	141
Barnett	168	133	160
Totals	513	483	478
	1st.	2nd.	3rd.
Perry	159	166	127
Smith	166	142	177
Moore	168	220	191
Totals	493	528	495

Utah Bars Big Mill.

Salt Lake City, Utah, January 5.—"It is not possiblefor that fight to take place here and come within the law. I will uphold the law if it becomes necessary." With these words Governor William Spry tonight swept aside all doubt as to his attitude toward the Jeffries-Johnson championship contest and disposed of the plan to stage the fight here.

Huston Is Arrested.

Richmond, Va., January 5.—J. N. Huston, former United States treasurer, indicted in Washington for fraudulent use of the mails, was arrested here today by Inspector Beal and taken to Washington.

CRACKERS OPEN WITH LOOKOUTS

According to Schedule as Prepared by Judge Kavanaugh.

Little Rock, Ark., January 5.—The Southern League baseball season of 1910 will begin on April 14 and will end September 17, according to the announcement of President Kavanaugh, who has completed a tentative playing schedule. As a result of the substitution of Chattanooga for Little Rock, the league will be divided in a northern and southern division instead of east and west. It is proposed that Memphis open at home April 14 with Nashville as the opponent; Atlanta with Chattanooga; Birmingham with Montgomery and New Orleans with Mobile, the teams on the road to return home after the first series. The northern division, which will be composed of Memphis, Nashville, Chattanooga and Atlanta, will then go south for a series. Then the southern clubs go north.

With the exception of June 5, it will be possible for Memphis and New Orleans to play every Sunday at home provided an arrangement can be made for a transfer of several dates.

The schedule committee will meet in Nashville, probably within the coming week, when a complete schedule will be announced.

AT TAMPA.

Tampa, Fla., January 5.—Three favorites took the money at the Tampa Bay track today. The feature of the winning outsiders was the race in which Judge Dundon, carrying top weight and being held at 30 to 1 in the betting, won the last race. There was a very perceptible increase in the offering of the layers today, and despite threatening rain, a large crowd was out. Within the last day there has been a steady influx of northern visitors, driven here by the cold which prevails in the north, east and west. Summaries:

FIRST RACE—Five and a half furlongs: Milton B., 112 (D. Murphy), 1 to 4, won; Necklet, 105 (Davenport), 5 to 1, second; Jack Laxson, 107 (C. Brown), 30 to 1, third. Time, 1:13 2-5. Dorothy K. and Tom Toohey also ran.

SECOND RACE—Selling, 5 furlongs: May Jene, 108 (Finley), 7 to 1, won; Harriet Rowe, 103 (Jackson), 5 to 2, second; Vanadium, 104 (Reilley), 9 to 5, third. Time, 1:06 4-5. Al Bush, Gilliford, Daisy B., Dr. Frank and Vic Zeigler also ran.

THIRD RACE—Five furlongs: Halifax, 113 (McCabe), 2 to 1, won; Sorrel Top, 108 (Deverich), 4 to 5, second; Lucky Mate, 109 (Jackson), 7 to 2, third. Time, 1:05 2-5. Nebulosus, The Ram, Gordon Lee, Ensley and Joe Talbert also ran.

FOURTH RACE—Six furlongs: Colonel Ashmeade, 91 (A. Burton), 3 to 4, won; Cassowary, 109 (Reilley), 15 to 1, second; Lou Lanier, 89 (Steinhardt), 8 to 1, third. Time, 1:19. Escutcheon and Ametus also ran.

FIFTH RACE—Seven furlongs: Flora Riley, 105 (D. Murphy), 9 to 10, won; Bannock Bob, 109 (Jackson), 7 to 2, second; Edwin L., 101 (Davenport), 13 to 5, third. Time, 1:32. Vanen also ran.

SIXTH RACE—Mile: Judge Dundon, 119 (C. Rowe), 30 to 1, won; W. I. Hinch, 109 (Moorehouse), 7 to 2, second; Necha, 102 (T. Koerner), 2 to 1, third. Time, 1:49 2-5. The Clown, Boz, True Boy, Punky and Delestrome also ran.

Questions Answered.

(Under this head the sporting editor will endeavor to answer all questions pertaining to any and all branches of sports.)

Dick Jemison, Sporting Editor The Constitution: Has James J. Jeffries ever been defeated for the championship of the world? Frank L. Jones.

Well hardly. His title is undefeated champion heavyweight of the world.

Dick Jemison, Sporting Editor The Constitution: How long has George Winters, Columbia's new manager, been in the Southern League? A Columbia fan.

Winters has been in the Southern League ever since its organization in 1901, playing the first year with Selma and since with Atlanta.

Eastern Field Trial Club.

New Albany, Miss., January 4.—Because of unfavorable weather conditions the continuation of the all-age stake of the Eastern Field Trial Club, which began yesterday, was passed until tomorrow. Tonight, however, a sleet storm prevails, and a further postponement will probably be necessary. Those attending the trials were entertained today at the hunting lodge of Paul J. Rainey, at Cotton Plant, where the dogs are being run.

BERNHARD SENDS OUT HIS CONTRACTS

Will Have Eleven of Last Year's Team Back This Year.

By Verner M. Jones.

Nashville, Tenn., January 5.—(Special.)—Judging from the contracts just forwarded to members of last year's baseball squad, Manager William Bernhard, the silent, winner of one pennant and runner-up for Atlanta in the second season of his experience as a Southern Legue mogul, expects his 1910 aggregation to be comprised chiefly of last year's veterans. With the exception of Tonneman, drafted by the Boston Americans, and Robertson, Noyes and Kellum, who will not be back, all old men were officially addressed with a view to their returning next season.

The list includes Wiseman, East, Bay, Seigel, Case, Perdue, Duggan, Butler, Seabaugh, Viebahn and Pratt. These were all regulars during the season except Pratt, a promising young catcher, who was farmed to Lynchburg, in the Virginia League, and who played a few games in a local uniform after the close of the season in the Old Dominion.

Robertson, who will not return, has been sold to Bill Smith for a good figure, and it is understood that he will be the former Atlanta manager's regular at the first corner in 1910. In Robertson, Smith gets a fine player. He was a fine fielder and a great clean-up hitter, but the climate did not agree with him and he preferred to go back east.

Several youngsters will be taken on by Manager Bernhard for trial next season. He has already signed a Texas Leaguer named Vinson for outfield duty; Morgan, of the O. and P. League, an infielder, and a semi-pro named Morton, also an infielder, who played in the Tennessee bush last year. He has some more youngsters in view, including Toney, a Nashville product, who pitched great ball for Winchester, Ky., in the Bluegrass League last season. Winchester claims Toney for next year, and it is said that the Philadelphia Nationals are after him, but Manager Bernhard expects to land him in time. Another catcher is also in view, although in Seabaugh and Pratt a good catching staff already appears in evidence.

Manager Bernhard states that it is likely that he will reenter the box regularly next season, and take his turn with the other twirlers. His strong and large staff last year alone kept him out of the harness, he says. Manager Bernhard has spent the winter in this city, and is now a regular southerner, having put in the last two years solid in this city, where he and his wife have apartments in one of the finest and most fashionable apartment houses in town.

BIRMINGHAM A. C. PLAYS ATLANTA A. C.

Of all the hard fought basketball games in the history of the sport in Atlanta the hardest fought game of them all will take place on Saturday night between the teams representing the Atlanta and Birmingham Athletic Club, at the Athletic Club's gymnasium.

These two teams will enter the game in the best of physical condition, ready for a hard fray and prepared to do their best to win the game. This is as the result of an old standing rivalry between the two fives, and while the rivalry is friendly, the two teams always fight like Tigers when on the floor, and if there is any unpleasant feeling it is all forgotten after the game.

The officials for the game have not yet been decided upon, neither has the line-up of both teams, but the way they will probably line-up as follows:

A. A. C.	Position.	B. A. C.
Doonan	R. F.	Woodruff
Jemison	L. F.	Ware
Atkisson	C.	Wyckham
Thornton	R. G.	Streit
Hudson	L. G.	Hilty

MARIST FIVE PLAYS BOYS' HIGH SCHOOL

The first game of the Atlanta Prep School Basketball League of the after-the-holiday's season will be played nevt Tuesday afternoon on the Marist outdoor field. The opponents will be the strongest teams in the league—Marist and the Boys' High school. This should be an interesting game. If the High school team can win, that aggregation will still be in the race for the pennant. If it cannot, then nothing but a miracle will prevent Marist from taking down the flag.

The Marist team had a game arranged with the Mercer team for January 8, but at the request of the Macon management, the date has been changed to February 12. The game will be played in Macon.

YANKEES CUTTING DOWN; TURTLES GET THREE MEN

New York, January 5.—The New York American League club today cut its roster almost to the legal limit of 35 players by releasing Second Baseman Wanner and Outfielders Channell and Farrell, to the Memphis team of the Southern League. Wanner was with Hartford last year; Channell with Fort Wayne, and Farrell with Marion, Ohio.

SURGEON USES KNIFE ON MISS JANE ADDAMS

Chicago, January 5.—Miss Jane Addams, settlement worker and head of Hull house, was successfully operated on here today, and pronounced out of danger. Today's operation was necessary because of an unsuccessful operation for appendicitis performed twelve years ago.

CARL M'KEE DIES FROM INJURIES

Fell Under Southern Railway Train While Playing.

Hip Crushed and Leg Broken. Carried to Atlanta Hospital, Where He Expired Last Night.

Carl McKee, the 12-year-old son of G. P. McKee, of Constitution, Ga., about 6 miles from Atlanta, fell under an incoming Southern train yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock and sustained fatal injuries. He died at the Atlanta Hospital at 8 o'clock.

The boy was returning home from school at the time, and together with two companions were playfully jumping from the ground to the platform of the train. It seems that the train started moving just as he was about to make a leap, causing him to miss his footing. His body fell partially underneath the wheels.

The train was stopped and the body pulled from beneath the wheels in a horribly mangled condition. His right leg was broken, his hip crushed and there were evidences of internal injuries.

He was brought to Atlanta on a specially chartered locomotive and the emergency ambulance of Greenberg, Bond & Bloomfield carried him to the Atlanta Hospital. Here, after examination, it was seen that the lad had no chance to live, but the doctors continued to work over him valiantly until he breathed his last.

The body was removed to Patterson's undertaking parlors and prepared for burial. The funeral and interment will take place at Constitution.

GAMBLE CONCERT PARTY AT AUDITORIUM FRIDAY

Much interest is being manifested in the coming of the Ernest Gamble Concert Party to the Auditorium on Friday evening of this week. The four preceding numbers on the Auditorium Lyceum Course have been all of such a high-class nature until the patrons of the course look forward with eagerness to any number announced on this course.

Ernest Gamble has sung in Atlanta before, and has scores of friends here. This is Herr Otto Stuermer's first season as pianist with the Gamble Party, and all music-lovers are looking forward with great pleasure to his playing.

Miss Verna Leone Page, concert violinist of the Gamble Concert Party, is one of the few women violinists who have achieved a great popularity with the public. Her playing has a charm and sympathy that reach the heart, and it is this personal note in her work that is the secret of her invariable success. She comes before her audience as a well-bred, cultured young lady, with a charmingly modest manner, which immediately wins her hearers. Miss Page depends upon a broad sympathetic tone of exquisite purity, genuine artistry and intelligent interpretations rather than on technical displays.

Miss Page possesses a rarely precious old Cremona violin, made by the master workman, Januarius Gagliano, in the year seventeen hundred and thirty-six. This violin has a marvelously rich and sympathetic tone.

MISS VERNA LEONE PAGE.

BANNON AND WACHTEL FOUND NOT GUILTY

Charged With Embezzling Funds of the Exchange Bank.

Macon, Ga., January 5.—Charles P. Bannon and Alex Wachtel were acquitted tonight shortly before midnight on a charge of embezzlement, growing out of the failure of the Exchange bank, of this city. The announcement that the jury had agreed upon a verdict came as a surprise, as the foreman stated to the court at a late hour that an agreement appeared impossible.

HARRIS WAS LIBERATED; THANKED JUDGE BROYLES

The mystery surrounding the queer departure of J. J. Harris from the city stockade last Friday night has been cleared up, and the man who demanded an eggnog before submitting to arrest on D'Alvigny street, December 18, is finishing out his sentence of 30 days.

Harris was released from the stockade on another man's permit, and it was all through the mistake of a new guard at the stockade that he left.

A man named J. J. Hairston had been pardoned by the mayor, and was released by telephonic communication from the station sergeant's office before the formal permit was filed at the stockade. The next day a new guard was employed at the stockade.

When the permit reached the stockade, the guard was under the impression that the man for whom it was intended was still doing time, so he went into the prisoners' quarters and called out the name several times in a loud voice.

With the same initials as his own, and not clearly understanding the latter part of the pronounced name, Harris answered "here," after a third or fourth call, and was formally released by the new guard.

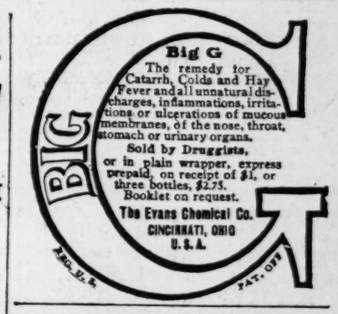

Had not Harris called to see Recorder Broyles to thank him for remitting his sentence, it is probable that his absence would not have been discovered until the expiration of the 30 days, after which he was to be returned for trial in the state courts, on charges of pointing a pistol at another and carrying concealed weapons.

Harris was ordered rearrested, and was found in the city hall, where he was in attendance as a witness at the stockade probe. It is not known whether or not he will be allowed the five days of his liberty, or whether he will be required to make up the lost time.

Since going to the stockade, Harris has been converted, and was reading a Bible when The Constitution reporter found him in the police barracks. His eyes welled up with tears when asked if he escaped from the stockade, and he replied.

"I wouldn't have made an attempt to get away from out there if they had opened the gates for me. I was under the impression that some of my friends had worked in my behalf and had succeeded in getting Judge Broyles to remit my sentence."

Harris was taken back to the stockade at night with the other prisoners sentenced in the afternoon police court.

LATEST REPORTS FROM ALL THE MARKETS

BAD BREAK IN COTTON; DOWN 28 TO 58 POINTS

Liquidation and Aggressive Bear Pressure Caused the Decline.

New York, January 5.—The cotton market had a very sensational break during today's late trading under panic-stricken liquidation and aggressive bear pressure, with the close weak and excited at a net decline of 28@58 points.

The opening was easy at a decline of 5@18 points, in response to weak cables, scattering liquidation and local bear pressure. There was a big demand from southern bulls at 16.05 for May, and during the middle of the day the market firmed up on this buying, while smaller shorts aided the advance by covering on the reports of a firm spot situation in the south, but after a rally of 16.24 for May, or to a net advance of about 7 points on the active months, the market weakened again under increased offering and in the last hour was tremendously active under selling for both accounts. The weakness in the stock market probably promoted some Wall street selling. The selling by western houses was accompanied by reports that Mr. Patten and his friends were liquidating their long lines and it seemed as though a few of the southern bulls were the only buyers left in the market. In less than an hour's trading May contracts declined over $3 a bale and the rest of the list suffered almost as severely, with March selling off to 15.40, May to 15.60 and July to 15.57, or from 50 to 58 points net lower. It was reported that the southern bulls bought between 150,000 and 200,000 bales of cotton in an effort to check the decline, but last prices were at the lowest. The market has been unsettled for the past two or three days, with sellers gaining confidence, owing to the failure of trade demand to improve as expected after the turn of the year, but until late today there had been sufficient support to protect the market from any break of consequence. Private advices from the south were generally bullish, on the ground that holders were refusing to sell, but the spot markets officially reported were unchanged to ⅛c lower and it is possible that apprehensions of spot weakness, resulting from a slack demand, may have been largely responsible for the severe break.

Receipts at the ports today 31,731 bales, against 30,056 last week and 33,950 last year. For the week 175,000 bales, against 156,847 last week and 273,918 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans 8,448, against 15,264 last year, and at Houston 4,979, against 13,868 last year.

Spot closed quiet, 10 points lower. Middling uplands 5.80; middling gulf 16.05. No sales.

New Orleans Cotton.

New Orleans, January 5.—Cotton spots opened firm; closed steady; low ordinary 12 1-16, nominal; ordinary 12 7-8, nominal; good ordinary 14 3-4; 14 5-16; strict good ordinary 14 3-4; low middling 15 3-16; strict low middling 15⅛; middling 15 3-4; strict middling 15 7-8; good middling 16; strict good middling 16 3-16; middling fair 16 5-16; middling fair to fair 16 11-16; fair 17 1-16, nominal; receipts 8,448; stock 178,702; sales on the spot 1,060; to arrive 300.

Futures opened steady at the decline, 11 to 13 points down. The market was active all day, and in the afternoon session, when prices broke 53 to 84 points, the trading was sensational. This was one of the wildest breaks since the Sully year. It was caused by bearish aggressiveness and weakness in the stock market in New York, which started unloading on a huge scale among the longs. Around the middle of the day the market recovered from the decline of the early hours, and advanced 6 to 10 points over yesterday's closing, on reports of a good spot demand in the interior. In the last hour of trading the market went all to pieces, some months breaking ten points at a time under the selling pressure. The closing was weak at a net decline of 48 to 78 points.

Dry Goods.

New York, January 5.—The dry goods markets are firm but quiet. Jobbers are opening new spring lines in all departments and are active in making January shipments on old orders. Cotton goods held firm. Yarns are firm with a tendency to go higher in response to a new schedule of prices adopted by spinners. Cotton backed satins are being bought for fall delivery. Underwear and hosiery are in good demand, but at low prices.

Argo, Jester & Co.

New oYrk, January 5.—Bulls experienced a severe reverse today for the first time in many weeks when bears succeeded in putting enough pressure on prices to overcome resistance and carry prices down through 16 cents, thereby uncovering a large number of stop orders. Cables were very weak, but our market did not make a full response and during the early trading prices worked up rather easily for about 20 points. Pressure was renewed, however, during the last hour and though bulls made a determined stand once more just above 16 cents, cotton was thrown into the ring in such quantity from all directions that it became necessary to remove the peg and give the market its head. It now remains to be seen whether spot markets will reflect the decline in futures or remain firm and so provide the bulls with the support needed to enable them to make it difficult for short sellers to recover their cotton without bidding up the market decline has eliminated a large amount of weak long cotton bought at high prices and other lines are no doubt better protected. Unless the spot situation weakens we look for a good recovery.

To meet our decline, Liverpool shoul open 25 points lowed.

STOCKS WERE WEAK ALL OF THE SESSION

Renewal of Speculative Liquidation---Rock Island's Recent Movement Discussed.

New York, January 5.—Speculative liquidation was renewed in the stock market today with much the same appearance of urgency as on the opening day of the new year. There was no 14 per cent money rate today to account for the weakness of the stock market and other nominal explanations were advanced. Many of these bore an appearance of mere surmise, the outcome of efforts to pierce the mystery of the large supplies of stocks for sale. The busiest of these surmises centered about Rock Island, its recent stock market history and the personal element connected with it. The personal phase of the discussion was a supplement to the gossip brought out by the eccentric bulge of 31 1-4 points in the stock, followed by a total relapse, all within the space of 15 minutes, on the day after the Christmas holiday interval. The supposition that this reckless display of manipulative ammunition was to be visited with the disapproval of the stock exchange authorities has been common since the investigation of the incident, and the submission of the still unpublished report on the subject.

Rumors flew thick about the stock exchange today of the scope and power of the influences being exerted to make effective the desired disapproval of the Rock Island market management. The principal selling of the day was attributed to the retirement of speculative commitments which had been prompted by this disciplinary movement. An early departure for Europe, and a retirement from influential directorates, were whispered as amongst the consequences to be involved. The number and variety of these rumors were sufficient, in themselves, to brand them as doubtful, and the authoritative denial of some of them confirmed the doubts, and pointed to the circulation of them as an attempt to conceal the real motive of the liquidation.

More substantial grounds for the weakness of stocks were found in other factors. For one thing, the unexpected stringency of the money market after the first of the year, and the absence of investment demand for stocks, growing out of the annual disbursements of profits have proved a disappointment. Large speculative holdings of stocks were held through the latter portion of last year in the face of difficulties, in the hope that conditions would clear with the turn of the year, and would awaken a public demand, which would afford an advantageous medium for speculative liquidation. One of the difficulties encountered in holding over through the autumn was the fall in the banking surplus to near the vanishing point in November. The whole sale shifting of loans then resorted to, in order to avert a deficit involved the assumption of obligations, which are believed to be coming due now. The money market facilities for meeting these obligations are less than expected, and liquidation in the stock market, in fact of a languid speculative demand, is a necessity. The relief afforded to the loan account of the banks in November was secured partly, it is believed, by large advances from surplus treasury funds of the great corporations. These had to be recalled in connection with the enormous annual settlements.

The rising tendency of the call money market was arrested today, and the time loan department took on a stronger tone, with an active demand for funds. The stiffness of the money market did not prevent a rise in foreign exchange rates, and gold was engaged again for export to South America. The course of events at Washington divided attention with the happenings within the financial district and were given their share of responsibility for the action of the market.

Last prices were about the lowest of the day, and the tone was acutely weak when operations were concluded for the day.

Bonds were easy. Total sales, par value, $4,960,000. United States fours coupon declined 1-4 per cent on call.

Profit taking later caused recessions and at noon the market was irregular with prices ranging from ⅛ below to ⅞ above yesterday's New York closing. In the afternoon Wall street offerings caused a setback, Rock Island declining 2 points, Southern Pacific, Union Pacific and United States Steel also losing ground. Louisville and Nashville and Erie continued firm. Prices generally were easy at the close.

WHEAT MAKES SLUMP ON HEAVY SELLING

July and September Closed 5-8 and 1-2 Lower, Respectively---Corn Lower.

Chicago, January 5.—Wheat showed weakness here today, and corn also fell off. Oats evinced less change. Provisions were generally lower.

Persistent selling in the wheat pit prevailed, despite much bullish sentiment, and left all the futures weak at the close. Prices fell off at the opening, and again, just before the finish of the day's trading, after the bulls had advanced all the futures, and forced May wheat prices a shade higher than yesterday's final figures. New receipts of wheat in the northwest were light, but word was received of many carloads not delivered because of adverse weather. Foreign cables gave the Liverpool market an easier tone. Estimates of the world's crop fixed it at 373,000,000 bushels greater than last year. Primary receipts nearly doubled those of last year. Large sales of cash wheat aided the bulls in temporarily overcoming the decline. Closing figures for July and September wheat were ⅝ and ½c lower, respectively, than yesterday, and these futures with May exhibited a comparatively wide range. May spread over 1@1¼c, closing ¾@⅞c lower than yesterday's final quotations at 1.13¾.

There was a big trade in corn, prices fluctuated over a range of ½ to ⅞c, with the market unsettled much of the time. Many profit-taking sales were made on all swells. The close was weak, notwithstanding reports that snow and cold are delaying the crop movement. Large offerings were absorbed rapidly, and new high points for the crop were registered for July and September deliveries, 68⅛ and 68c, respectively. Final figures were a shade to ⅜c lower than yesterday's close, with May at 67¼c.

Activity characterized the oats pit. Strong cash demand pushed the prices sharply higher, only to fall again on realizing. The May delivery forged far ahead of the more distant futures, and at the close was the only grain future which showed any gain over the previous close. The last price for May today was 47⅝c, which was ½c lower than the high point for the day, and ⅝c higher than yesterday's final quotation. The other futures fluctuated within a range of ½c.

A light run of hogs today in western packing centers, 57,700 being received, as against 105,300 a year ago, had less effect than usual on the provision market here. January pork advanced 20c early, but, as a result of profit-taking, the gain was lost. At the close, the different futures, as compared with yesterday's final figures, ranged: Pork 2½ to 20c lower; lard 2½ to 5c lower; ribs generally 7½c lower. Closing prices in January products were: Pork 21.80; lard 12.60; ribs 11.50@11.52½.

New York, January 5.—Coffee futures opened steady at unchanged prices to a decline of 5 points in sympathy with easier European markets, but steadied up during the day on a moderate demand from western and local bulls in the absence of important offerings. New Orleans, January 5.—Cotton seed oil: Prime refined in barrels, per pound, 7.40.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.

New York, January 5.—Until about 1 o'clock the market was firm, advancing on the support and buying by the leading bull operators, who are looking for a very bullish ginners' report next week. When the western traders who have been uneasy since the mysterious weakness in Liverpool on Monday, sold heavily, followed by heavy realizing from Wall street longs, until the realizing became too heavy for the bulls and the market struck stop orders around 16 cents, and a running break followed, with prices 10 points lower after the close, on a further decline in New Orleans. The weakness in the market is due to the absence of any short interest, except that against cotton stored in the various markets. Under ordinary conditions, the market should rally tomorrow after such a break, and it will probably do so. The action of the western traders was thought to be due to an idea that last week the local bulls had sold out on them, as they did in November, and they thought it best to take their profits now and not wait.
